Parents Poll: Two-Thirds Want Open Clubs

Results of a poll conducted by the Acalanes Parents' Club Board indicate by a two-thirds majority that parents of Acalanes students believe membership in the existing girls' service clubs should be open to all those who wish to join.

A report on results of the poll was given to the board Monday night by Mrs. J. E. Neighbor, corresponding secretary.

The poll was sent recently to all parents of Acalanes students.

IT ASKED that each parent indicate whether he favored open or invitational membership in all clubs sponsored by service organizations at the high school. Besides putting an X after his choice, there was space for comments.

The board was "pleased" to hear that the return of the 350 questionnaires exceeded 30 per cent. It agreed that the results could be accepted as representative.

Hope was expressed that other high school parent boards, particularly Miramonte, would conduct a similar poll giving all parents the opportunity to express their views.

IN JANUARY, the Acalanes board requested that the Acalanes Union High School District Board of Trustees "pass a provision that all service clubs to which our young high school students belong have 'open membership' . . .

It was the feeling of the Acalanes board that this would be "more democratic than the present practice of invitational membership."

Of the 10 clubs in the district, five are at Miramonte, four at Acalanes, and one at Las Lomas. Although the membership of the clubs is composed of junior and senior girls at each school, none is sponsored by the school.

The board of trustees voted "not to disapprove of the girls' clubs in the various high schools in the district because of lack of evidence . . ." The vote was four to one.

Board President Glenn Allen cast the dissenting vote. Board member William Lee stated that the board should "remain forever open on the question because the evidence may change."

TO SETTLE the question of jurisdiction, a legal opinion on the question from the district attorney had been requested. The opinion was that "the trustees had the authority to regulate membership in the clubs if membership in these organizations "adversely affects discipline, morale or government of the schools."

The comment which appeared most often on the returned questionnaires was to the effect that closed membership clubs, service or social, should not be allowed to exist at the high school level, stated Mrs. Neighbor.

Forty-four percent of the forms returned contained comments. Some of the main points stressed by the two-thirds voting for open membership indicated that the invitational system existing now produces adverse affects in the following ways:

EXCLUSION AFFECTS the morale of the students, causes hurt and heartbreak, and, in some cases, causes severe lasting damage.

This system gives students "a false set of values, cultivates snobbery, encourages cliques, creates an unfriendly atmosphere at Acalanes."

"Since conformity pressures are great, as long as this system is allowed to exist, students will continue to join the clubs, even though they and/or their parents disapprove in principle. This creates inner conflict.

OTHERS POINTED out that these clubs are "social prestige groups more than service clubs, that the existence of them does more harm than good, and that in some cases the supervision of activities has been less than adequate."

Main points made by the one-third who prefer the existing system of invitational membership were:

Selection of some and exclusion of others is a "way of life." Students may as well get used to it.

People have the right to choose the individuals they wish to associate with and to exclude the others.

WITH OPEN membership, clubs would be too large. The suggestion that more clubs be formed to include more girls appeared often on the ballots in favor of invitational membership.

Some thought that the service activities needed more stress in these clubs.

Parents on both sides gave strong indication that they thought there was a need for more school clubs based on interest groups, both academic (political science clubs, etc.), and non-academic (chess, photography, etc.), and sports for both girls and boys.

PARENTS also indicated that if service clubs continue to exist, and if it is necessary to limit them in size, standard for membership should be set up on the basis of citizenship, scholarship, and primarily on a willingness to serve.

Some suggested a probationary period for all interested girls and then elimination of those who lose interest in the service requirements.

Some said that membership should be open to all seniors only.

THE MAIN POINT made was that popularity should not be a requirement for membership in a service club. As one parent put it: "Popularity is a poor criterion for the opportunity to be of service."

Of the 225 voting for open membership, 93 wrote comments and 45 identified themselves.

Of the 113 voting for invitational membership, 52 wrote comments and 20 identified themselves.

Typical samples of comments, on opposite sides of the fence, were these:

"My daughter is a member of a girl's club. In my opinion, they do more harm than good. . . ."

"The clubs would become too large and unwieldy if open membership prevailed. . . ."

IN LIGHT of the results of the poll, the Parents Club Board voted unanimously to take the following action:

1. To inform the Children's Home Society, the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center and the Children's Hospital, sponsors of the four girls' clubs, of the results of the poll. To request representatives from these groups to meet with members of the board to discuss membership methods which would be more in keeping with the views of Acalanes parents.

2. To inform the district trustees of the results of the poll.

3. To place a photostatic copy of all comments written on the questionnaires (signatures deleted) in the Lafayette public library and in the archives of the University of California.

4. To create a new committee to be represented on the Parents Club Board by a chairman called the "Student Activities Chairman." The purpose of this committee will be to aid the existing school clubs and to help form new ones, based on interest groups and open to all students.

THIS COMMITTEE will require the services of a number of parents. Those who are interested in being members of this committee are asked to call Mrs. Neighbor, 283-6747.

Bus Turn-Out Is Okayed

The state okayed this week a bus turn-out for Orinda.

For about five years, local residents, led by the Contra Costa County Commuters Association and the Orinda Chamber of Commerce, have been fighting to get the green light on the Vashell Plan.

It will eliminate buses going through the business section at the crossroads. It will eliminate the congestions of commuters getting on and off the bus at the Casa Orinda. It will eliminate the buses being delayed at the present signal at Brookwood Road.

THE NEW TURNOUT will affect eastbound traffic only. It calls for a bus stop, sidewalks and highway lighting project.

The contract was awarded to O. C. Jones, Berkeley contractor. He was low bidder with $56,035. The state had estimated the cost of the job at $54,800.

In May, for the second time in recent months, the job went out to bid. Last fall it was turned down by the state highway engineer because it exceeded the state's estimate.

"Assemblyman John Knox helped us to get this contract," said Thomas Whitten, lawyer and engineer, president of the commuters' association. "We very much appreciate his help and interest in this needed project."

ONLY a short stretch of new road will be built. It will hook to the cloverleaf, through a now-landscaped area, and connect to the existing on-ramp to Lafayette.

Buses will go down Brookwood Road and make a left turn before the stop light to the eastbound on-ramp.

The present bus shelter will not be moved, since it is primarily for westbound traffic. No plans for a shelter exist at present.

There never has been an Orinda shelter for eastbound commuters.

Other improvements included in the job are in Lafayette, at Upper Happy Valley Road and Reliez Station Road.

The Upper Happy Valley Road, by the Lafayette westbound shelter, will have a direct paved walkway to it.

At Reliez Station Road, by the Speedi-Mart, there will be paving where there is now dirt. Presently there is nothing but a concrete curbing.

THE SUN notified the contracting firm that it would be awarded the contract. It had not yet received the official news from J. C. Womack, state highway engineer.

A spokesman for the contractor said that it would take approximately 30 days to process the job. Once construction is started, work must be completed within 30 working days.

Whitten estimated that the job possibly would be completed within three months.

CLARENCE BETZ, secretary-treasurer of the Orinda chamber, expressed gratification that the contract had been approved.

In a letter to the state highway engineer, last September, requesting that the job again go out for bid, he said: " . . . In comparison with the highway construction job between the tunnel and the crossroads, the bus turn-out is a very small job, but it is a very large and important job to the chamber and the business people and also the residents of Orinda.' '

Whitten stated that all eastbound commuters would benefit from the turn-out.

School Budget Nears $2 Million

'Happy Mothers Day'--Say 12 Little Schnuggs

Proposed Budget Would Up Tax Rate, 'Few Cents'

A $1,990,106 preliminary budget for 1963-64 for the Orinda Union School District was not reviewed by the board of trustees Monday night. Although it was on the agenda, it was not discussed because of lack of time.

Each member of the board has a detailed copy of the budget prepared by Henry J. Moeller, assistant superintendent, business services.

It will be reviewed at the board's adjourned meeting May 20, stated President J. Gordon Ainsworth.

THE BUDGET must be filed with the county superintendent of schools on or before July 1. The county will return it by July 15. It will be published between July 25-31. August 1-7, there will be a public hearing, adoption and filing of the budget. Back to the county August 15 for final okay.

The proposed budget is an increase of $101,684 over last year's.

It represents a 5.18 per cent increase over the final budget for 1962-63; and an increase of 8.76 per cent over the actual expenditures.

Last year's budget was for $1,888,422. With three months left to go, expenditures were estimated at $1,829,856.

The estimated general purpose tax rate will increase 5.18 per cent. It will go from 2.395 per $100 assessed valuation to $2.419 per $100 assessed valuation. Tax ceiling is 2.75 per $100 assessed valuation.

The tax rate for state loan repayment will increase 14.3 per cent. It will go from .153 to .175 per $100 assessed valuation.

Although the assessed valuation within the district increased, state sources decreased, Moeller stated. He said that the tax rate would go back up to where it was two years ago.

The budget incorporated the district's contribution to the teachers' health insurance premiums, as approved by the board. This amounted to $10,000.

It was the board's refusal to grant full payment of the health premium to teachers, as they had requested, which started a controversy over teachers' salaries.

BY A 3-2 VOTE, the board adopted a "contributory" health premium plan, whereby it would pay $4 and the teacher $4 monthly for the health insurance.

A subsequent pay hike was asked by the teachers. It was turned down by a 3-2 vote.

Salaries represent 75.6 per cent of the total tentative budget. All salaries included the increment increases of the current salary schedules or contingencies.

Teachers' salaries are estimated at $1,318,618. This includes three new teachers and the automatic increment increases of all teachers returning to the district. These represent $40,700 over last year's budget.

OTHER INCREASES: $26,270 for additional classified personnel; $11,150 for salary increases of classified personnel; $2750 for textbooks; $11,500 for state loan repayment; and $3000 for supplies.

Decreasing costs were given as: transportation, down $9700; and transfers down $5000.

State aid has fallen 2.03 per cent while federal aid has increased very slightly, according to Moeller.

Other items listed in the proposed budget included: administration, $89,548; health services, $9561; transportation, $90,588; operation, $161,727; maintenance $3901; and fixed charges, $75,305.

THE BOARD authorized Moeller to put the following three items out to bid: 1. Instructional supplies (estimated to run $15,000 - $17,000); 2. Furniture and equipment; 3. Windows with aluminum frames for Orinda School.

A financial statement as to the operation of the cafeterias in the district showed that they were breaking even for the first time in many years.

2 New Spanish Teachers, Other Action by Board

Other items on the school board's agenda Monday night included:

1. Recommendations and evaluations (in executive session) of teachers for the 1963-64 year. Resignations and new teachers to be elected will be presented May 20.

2. SPANISH PROGRAM REPORT. William Gaskell and Mrs. Esther Johnson presented an appraisal of the Spanish program for all seventh and eighth graders in the district.

By July 1, 1965 all schools in the state must operate a foreign language program.

Mrs. Ruth Gilwee moved that two additional full time Spanish teachers be hired. Mrs. Gretchen Howe seconded. The motion was unanimously adopted.

In the fall, both Pine Grove and Inland Valley Intermediate will each have two full time Spanish teachers.

3. INLAND VALLEY WALKWAY. Clark Joiner, president of the Inland Valley Parent's Club, discussed the "safety problem" on the school property along Ivy Drive.

If the school would demonstrate its "responsibility" by taking care of its property, he stated that homeowners would probably install the walkway in front of their property.

An estimate of $840-$880 was given for the rough concrete, four-foot walkway.

4. President J. Gordon Ainsworth made it very clear that the board would be represented at the May 21 unification meeting at Pine Grove.

Block at Crossroads Is Sold by Rheem Land Co.

Rheem California Land Company sold almost an entire block at the Orinda crossroads this week.

Included in the sale was the Orinda Theater property, although Donald L. Rheem will continue to operate the theater. He purchased the block in 1939.

The parcel includes the Wells Fargo bank building; a seven store complex; and a parking lot. It is bounded by Moraga Way and Brookwood Road.

BUYER WAS Robert L. Philippi, Oakland automobile dealer. Purchase price was $650,000 and more than two acres of undeveloped land on East 14th Street between 150 and 151st Avenues in San Leandro.

Grubb and Ellis Company handled the sale.

Philippi, a Lincoln - Mercury dealer, who resides in Piedmont, said that he has no immediate plans for improvements or further development of the property.

RHEEM CALIFORNIA Land Company is developing the area in the vicinity of Rheem Center, Moraga. It includes roads, houses, apartments, major expansion of the center, and other construction.

The company is "concentrating all of its efforts in Rheem Valley" according to Ed Turk, comptroller. It has full - scale plans for the present and future development of Rheem Valley, said Turk.

Orinda Goes Black

Three persons were hurt in traffic crashes in the Central County area in the past week, but the most spectacular incident starred two highway patrolmen who braved dangerous arcing wires to rescue a dazed truck driver.

Early Saturday morning patrolmen Henry Rurup and David Plant were investigating a minor accident early Saturday morning when they saw the sky suddenly light up.

A QUARTER mile away, Richard P. Kaloostian, 39, of Hayward, had lost control of his double-trailer gravel truck on narrow, winding Camino Pablo Road near the East Bay Municipal District filter plant.

The truck tore down almost 200 feet of chain link fence before it smashed into a power pole, breaking a 12,000-volt transmission line.

Though the hour was early, power to most of Orinda was shut off, for the most part, disturbing electric clocks.

The two highway patrolmen got around a 4000-volt line that was dangling across the truck and rescued Kaloostian, still inside the cab.

EMERGENCY crews from Pacific Gas and Electric Company didn't have full electrical power restored to Orinda until almost 7:30 a.m., three hours after the crash.

The Orinda Fire Department was forced to use emergency power sources during the blackout.

The sudden surge of power over the lines blew out a transformer in front of 188 Crest View Drive, setting the pole afire.

Three accidents took place in Lafayette.

For the second consecutive week, a girl, Bonnie D. Light, 11, of 1624 Reliez Valley Road, was struck by a car at Mt. Diablo Boulevard and Stuart Street.

SHE WAS treated after the accident on Saturday and then released from Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek.

Highway patrolmen said the motorist was Mrs. Heather J. Krohn, 36, of 3368 Johnson Road, Lafayette. The girl was riding her bicycle across the street when the accident happened.

On April 27, Pamela Jennings, 12, also of Lafayette, was hurt when she was struck by a car at the same intersection. A last-moment shove on her part saved her eight-year-old sister from being hit, too.

Also on Saturday, two cars collided at Mt. Diablo Boulevard and Oak Hill Road. The motorists, Conrad Malnick, 40, of 1158 Robles Court, and Mrs. Nancy A. Henderson, 26, of 1194 Glen Road, both Lafayette, were unhurt, but Mrs. Henderson's 18-month-old child, Charles, was slightly banged up when the impact threw him to the floor of the car.

Police said Mrs. Henderson was enroute along Mt. Diablo Boulevard and Malnick was coming out into the street from Oak Hill Road.

AT MORAGA Road and Plaza Way, a man, Fred A. Hoff, 74, of Concord, was hurt when he was hit by a truck driven by Vernon G. Lucas, 31, of 3560 Mt. View Drive, Lafayette. Lucas was driving a pickup truck. The accident occurred Monday night.

Hoff was confined to Kaiser Hospital for treatment of a broken hip.

CHP Car Rammed

Highway Patrolmen Adolph Siri and Alex Sabo were investigating an accident in the Pleasant Hill area early Thursday when they heard a frightening sound.

The scene was Highway 21, 250 feet north of Gregory Lane, where the officers were supervising the removal of a car damaged in an accident that had happened only a short while previously.

Their patrol car was parked behind the auto that was about to be towed away.

SUDDENLY the officers heard the sound of an approaching car. It was coming fast.

"Look out, that car's not going to stop," Sabo shouted and he and Officer Siri scurried out of the way.

The next sound was a loud crash.

The oncoming car had hurtled into the rear of the parked patrol car, illuminated by its flashing yellow light.

THE TWO patrolmen ran to the other car and extricated the driver, identified as Donald W. Stallcup, 22, of Martinez.

He was taken to Martinez Community Hospital, where attendants said he may have suffered a broken skull.

The May Basket . . .

A-TISKET, A-TASKET, a green & yellow basket. That's what Mom's May bouquet is from Orinda, Oh, heavenly blooming time!

At the Lindsey Spights, spikes of lavender & gold stand like straight-back sentries on the garden hillside. . . . Peach trees are plump with pink blossoms that float like petals of snow to the ground.

There's a pale pink dogwood doing fine at the Girards' handsome house tucked away down El Rincon & the roses are climbing like crazy on yon Thatchers' fence.

Charles Burkett patching up the picket fence at his place (the former Charley Malone house) had plenty of pint-sized helpers around . . . & the Very Contemporary Clark Wallaces are putting in a tots' playground & have a lush carpet of pansies nodding welcome up their pathway.

How are things out your way? Did you have a May Day at school & wonder back to whatever happened to the ceremonial & laborious weaving of the Maypole? Or whatever happened to the girl w/the long golden curls who always got crowned Queen of the May?

APRIL FOOL! While cleaning the piano keys last month something brought the music of Paul Faria to mind. Only then did I realize I continue to confuse Paul's name w/that of Walter De Faria, winner of KRON-TV award for prize-winner "Dinosaur" play that Dramateurs will do.

A FOURSOME of the Forty-Set were ogling the lively Twisters at last Sat.'s Orinda Nursery School Dance: "Were we ever THAT young?" sighed one of the ladies.

It's true. Anyone taking stock of the parent contingent at Orinda Country Club that night would have to agree—"Parents ARE getting younger. Or could it be that the ones that WERE are getting older. . . .

THE POTTERS, Diane & Tom, won the trip to Palm Springs & were wondering how they'd fit it into their busy traveling schedule. All those in favor of taking the winning trip off their hands, say so. Now fight it out for yourselves!

A RARE WINNING for Novadean Antine who found she fit fine into a gift skirt & blouse outfit . . . Claire & Fred Cummings had their lucky tkt. number called three times before they heard it, so animated & interesting was their conversational table huddle.

COUNTRY CLOTHESLINE: The old rule of "Anything Goes" still prevails at the traditional Nursery School Dance—everything from simple cotton shirtwaists to fancy brocades. . . .

On the dressier side, regal Bev Hamilton (she shared co-chairman honors with Rita Frost) chose a Voguish black & white print . . . Huge red roses blossomed from Kay Weldon's white frock . . . summer pastels were in profusion this rainy night . . . Gold brocade for Marty Hayes.

. . . Blow a Gasket?

Casing the crowd from the upstairs balcony, Nursery School's Myrtle Patterson & Maxine Laney report on the terpsichore: "Bill & Genia Simpson can sure dance! ! ! !"

PARTING SHOT of the evening, Connie Goldeen to husband John—"NO WONDER we didn't win anything! ! ! ! Boo-hoo-hoo. You've still got the whole of the tickets in your pocket!" That tears the stub!

SIDEGLANCES: Jane Calhoun, Lois Pixley, Joan Zappetini & Pat Loughman headed for last Monday's fashion-bridge at Santa Maria parish hall. They dared to be different & brought their own dominoes. We hear that the fashion show by Marty's was one of the Best & Most Beautiful ever.

Marta Reid, busy career girl, caught a case of rose-purple sunburn & a discomforted back after a day on the Carmel beach. . . . The Clark Hales unpacked their skis from a Squaw Valley holiday & greeted LaVeryn's mom returning from Hawaii.

SHE DID IT AGAIN! Repeat performance for Pine Grove's Edith Givens who broke same leg, same place.

Photog Martin White's winning Child's Portrait in nat'l photo mag contest, can be admired in Camera Shop window this week.

CUT UP: When The Merchant of Venice is over (terrific!) the scrim curtain may well be worth a collector's item. . . . The montage of Venice was painted by Orinda art teacher Ed Youngs AND painter Elaine Jay Lawson who, when in rome (Paris, etc), last year, was accorded rare honors—made the same international columns & front pages as Sophie, Bettina, Brigitte, etcetcet.

When Blanche Brody got home from Rome recently (a whirlwind trip), Elaine fell into her arms w/white handkerchief & tears . . . "I'm Rome-sick, that's all!"

THINK ABOUT IT: Did you ever notice that 'earth' has the same letters as 'heart'?

MY NEIGHBOR, The Folksinger: Merritt Herring, guitarist & folksinger, will participate in the Festival Theatre's "Evening of Dance to Folksongs & Renaissance Music" on Fri. & Sat., May 17 & 18, 8:30 at the theater, 2 Kensington Road in San Anselmo.

Herring, who has had his own program on KPFA, has performed at Folk Music concerts throughout the area & I hope it's no surprise to him that the Orinda Park gals are hoping to get him for guitar lessons at the pool this summer. Interested? Calle Margee Ford (C.O.).

CULTURE, VULTURE? Oil by Mike Czaja, eminent artist & Valley Art Center mainstay, are on exhibit at Orinda Library through May . . . VAC's Peter Blos did the portrait of Prof. Wendell Latimer unveiled last week for the dedication of UC's Latimer Bldg. . . .

Gloria Brown's show at Harbor Gallery on the Bret Harte Boardwalk continues through May 26 sharing honors w/Robert Harvey . . . Daily 10-5, Sunday 12-4.

There's an old saying that when you move to South Trail, you have a baby girl 9 mos. later. It happened to the Graces, the Lipovacs, the Parkses (Chip & Betsy are moving to Philly where he'll teach at U. of Penn.) and now it's happened to Patt & Frank Clark. Their Mothers' Day present is all pink & rosebuds, name of Kerry Robin.

HONORS, HOORAY, for Suzanne Arighi, dghtr. of the Mel Arighis! The U.C. at Davis coed has been chosen by the University of California for its "Education Abroad" program, the first student from this area. Suzanne, who won an Orinda Woman's Club scholarship on graduation from Miramonte '61, will take her junior year, starting Sept. 1, at the University of Bordeux. Both parents, Mel & Gertrude, are active Cal alumni.

COCKEYED OPTIMISM: The Orinda Association in their recent membership drive, are out for "50% Orinda membership." What's wrong w/ONE HUNDRED percent . . . or at least 100 per cent more than last year? Better add a PR man to the board. Statistics prove if you ask for a 100 per cent, you'll get 50. If you seek 50, you'll be lucky to get 20 percent . . .

A TRIBUTE TO Rogers & Hammerstein was the tremendous evening offered Friday by the King's Daughters & Sons, Inc. The program of dance & song was handsomely staged at Castlemont High School's aud, which is almost on par w/Berk. Community Theater. If you're looking for a real big fund-raising event, this is it.

You can't beat Messieurs R & H music & the Hayward people that comprise the large talented & polished group are like An Evening with Fred Waring. Only more diversified.

K.D.'s LAURIE KERSTEN & Emma Usinger boosted ticket sales for this event by inviting guests Jack & Mary Ann McClure, the Fred Clarkes, Jack Harts, Doug Watkinses & Fran Romine back to Usinger's for Strawberry Torte.

Airman Rugg Is Reassigned

Airman Third Class Michael E. Rugg, whose guardians, Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Lowe, reside at 1 Culver Court, Orinda, is being reassigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for technical training as a United States Air Force weather observer.

Airman Rugg, who enlisted in the Air Force a short time ago, has completed his initial basic military training at Lackland air force base, Texas.

Family of the Week

It's A Love Game!

"M" may stand for Mother but it also stands for MANY meaning the family of Clark and LaVeryn Hale. It might also mean MANY for the myriad activities in which the Hales participate.

The youngsters come by their athletic abilities naturally. LaVeryn came to U.C. on a tennis scholarship and at one time ranked as "Heart of America" Girls' Champ in the Kansas City tournament. She held high honors in St. Louis women's singles and taught tennis at Stephen's Women's College.

WHILE MAJORING in physical education at the University of Misouri, she had the very rare distinction of playing on the world's champion womens' basketball team. Her sorority was Kappa Alpha Theta.

Her dentist husband Clark got caught in her net when they met on a tennis court. It's been a Love game ever since but not limited to the lobs of the racquet game. Both Hales are inveterate golfers; she was 1956 East Bay Regional Park golf champ and he was top player in the Northern California Dental Golf Tournament.

The trophies and cups are piling up at the family's Fiesta Circle house in Orinda and now the younger Hales are bringing home blue ribbons.

STEPHEN CAME into national news last year as U.S.A.'s No. 1 boy in the Football Punt Contest. The score he toted up recently at Rheem Bowl was the highest ever bowled in the Bantam League and he garnered golfing honors at the Carroll Country Club Golf Tournament as runner-up in the 15-year age group.

The sports-minded family take to the courts at Campolindo High and at Pebble Beach when they get away for the weekend.

All but baby "Roger Q" (for Quincy) take to the keys of the home piano—and the skis on the Squaw Valley slopes where the Hales holidayed last month.

Clark Hale is a U.C. grad and Phi Delta alumnus. He chairmans the couple's current interest—a project that will be shared by many in the community when the piece of property at Glorietta Boulevard and Moraga Highway is developed and beautified for use by the Girl Scouts. LaVeryn is troop organizer in the Orinda area.—M.M.

'Fourth R' Exhibit Is On Its Way

The fourth annual Orinda school district art show will be on display at the Pine Grove School auditorium May 19 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Director will be Mrs. Florence Rossi, district art teacher for the elementary schools and Ed Youngs, art instructor for Pine Grove and Inland Valley Intermediate schools.

Works of students were done in all media—besides various kinds of paintings. There will be displays of sculpture, ceramics, stitchery, basket weaving, paper sculpture, mosiacs (done with seeds, beans, yarn, macaroni, etc.) and sand casting.

Murals on conservation done by Mrs. Gehres' class at Sleepy Hollow School and on Africa done by Miss Young's third grade class at Inland Valley School, will also be shown.

Assembly of the children's art work is noncompetitive and is designed to give the public a view of the "fourth R" as Mrs. Rossi regards her teaching.

Home Extension Group To Take Tour

The Orinda-Rodeo home extension group will meet at 11 a.m. May 22 at the home of Mrs. Lois Killingsworth, the Vacaville apartments, Vacaville. The group will lunch at the "Nut Tree," after which they will tour "Leisure Town."

2 Orinda Boys Tour Texas Air Station

Two Orinda boys received a three-day aviation indoctrination tour of the Naval air station, Corpus Christi, Texas, recently as guests of the Naval Air Advanced Training Command.

The boys are Midshipman Fourth Class L. Douglas Bodkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cee D. Bodkin of 24 Mariposa Lane, Orinda, and Midshipman Fourth Class Lyndon R. Vivrette, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lyndon Vivrette of 59 La Espira.

The three-day tour included a voluntary four-hour primary airborne instruction given by a Navy flight instructor, a "flight" in the low pressure chamber which stimulates high altitude flight conditions, an ejection seat trainer and classroom lectures in aeronautics and navigation.

Its purpose is to help future naval officers select the branch of the Navy in which they will serve. Other Navy bases offer the tours of indoctrination in the other fields, which are surface ships and submarine operations.

CORRECTION!

In last week's report on the unification meeting, the president of the board of trustees was incorrectly identified.

Big Fete Planned for Rev. Thomas

Members and friends of the Lafayette - Orinda Presbyterian Church will honor The Rev. and Mrs. William Carl Thomas at a reception from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday in the church Fellowship Hall, 49 Knox Drive, Lafayette.

Rev. Thomas has been called to be the minister of San Mateo's First United Presbyterian Church as of June 1.

In appreciation of his leadership since the Lafayette-Orinda church was organized nine years ago, a "Pastor's Farewell Fund" has been established at the church.

DONATIONS TO this fund will be placed in a program for summer studies at the San Francisco Theological Seminary to enable Rev. Thomas to obtain a doctor of theology degree over the next few years.

As a unque venture, some 30 persons in the Lafayette-Orinda area planned a meeting at the defunct "Planter's Dock" in 1954 (at which 150 persons appeared!), with Carl Thomas advising them on the organization of a Presbyterian church. Realizing his direction was to lead this congregation, he accepted the position of minister.

Rev. Thomas has watched his congregation grow from a chartering membership of 135 to its present size of 1200 members and from meeting at "Planter's Dock," the Town Hall and the Park Theater to its present 20-acre location in Hidden Valley.

There is a Christian education unit, fellowship hall and administrative offices, with 10 acres having been developed into a wilderness park for summer day camp groups.

As the congregation increased, two assistant ministers were called by the congregation to share the work — W. Benson Mack, minister of education, and Robert Merrit,, minister to the membership.

This tremendous growth has been the result of the minister's dynamic and energetic leadership and his participation in organizing many informal neighborhood potluck dinners — a unique characteristic of the earliest years of the church.

His wife, Helen, is a graduate of UCLA and New York Biblical Seminary. She has been active in leading women's Bible classes during these years, in addition to raising their daughters, Christine, 15, and Barbara, 13.

REV. THOMAS has been extremely active in counseling on family relations and is an originator of the Academy of Mental Health, which meets in Lafayette's Pedregal Center. He also finds time to write a monthly column with a religious theme for "The California Farmer" magazine, circulated to some half a million persons.

A native of Little Rock, Arkansas, he graduated from the University of Chicago and the Dallas Theological Seminary.

WHEN HE assumes his duties at the San Mateo Church, he will have, in addition to nine years in Lafayette - Orinda, a bcakground as pastor of Fresno's Calvary Church, assistant pastor for three years at Berkeley's First Presbyterian Chuch, a naval chaplaincy in the South Pacific during World War II and the post of promotional secretary for Intervarsity Christian Fellowship.

A pastor-seeking committee will be elected by the congregation of the Lafayette-Orinda church to select a replacement for Rev. Thomas.

Church Land Use Permit Renewed

Moraga Valley Presbyterian Church had its land use permit renewed by the county board of adjustment, April 10.

The Presbytery of San Francisco requested renewal of the permit, which had run out. The site is nearly nine acres located across from Miramonte High School. It fronts at the east end of Idlewood Court, in the Orinda-Moraga area.

Hats Off To...

Mother Knopf which rhymes with Enough!

A GOLD CROWN this Mother's Day, please, for Mrs. A. R. (Dorothy) Knopf, which rhymes with "enough" and stands for stuff (and nonsense) that a mother of Mother of seven has to cope with.

"For instance," chortles Dorothy, "there was the time I sent off a plea to a cereal company to forget the fancy ten-pack and please come out with a king-size box. The company wrote a nice letter, thanks, and said they were sending our children a very special gift.

When 1000 tiny packages of cereal arrived, I could have killed 'em. The company, I mean. Maybe the kids, too. . . . We had cereal boxes in every corner of the house!"

IF THE CUPBOARDS at the Knopfs' colonial house on El Toyonal appear bare, it's because Dorothy has a system—out of sheer necessity. She hides everything in the food line. When the Knopf crew were younger, she put a combination lock on the closet housing all the special goodies. Undaunted by secret coding, the kiddies unhinged the door. Nuts, bolts and everything! That cupboard WAS bare.

Dorothy recently noticed that her pantry stock of baby food, canned fruit and the like seemed to be disappearing mysteriously. She didn't wonder to where after standing under an orange tree in the yard one day and having tins of custard and applesauce tumble down on her head. The children had a chock-full stockade up high in the limbs.

It's a familiar story to most mothers. The Hide & Go Seek system prevalent in prolific families. One of the boy's keds (which they go through at a 30-day clip) was missing. Baby Amy had stashed it away inside the grandfather's clock . . . & of course, she's not talking, yet!

The Knopf children will remember Mama for her "sock box." Into a big picnic hamper go all the assorted socks. "The kids have a real picnic digging for same."

Mom's night off is Wednesday when she takes in the movie. Dorothy ducks out solo, sits in a seat all by herself and shares a candy bar with no one. Blessed moments!

Both Dorothy and her husband Bud (he's a paper products salesman) hail from small families. They good-naturedly share the fun, work and daily crises that occur with the raising of a big brood.

Bud loads the family wagon up to chauffeur for scouts, sports activities, shoe-buyinug sprees, etc. and chides Dorothy about her AB degree in education from U.C. Handsomely framed, it hangs on the wall above the washing machine!

AND who's taking Mom out to breakfast Sunday? John, 12; Stephen, 11; Susan, 10; Jane, 8; Tom, 7; Kate, 4, and Amy, two years. No, Scout the setter and his flock of pigeons are NOT going along.—M.M.

Tied for Tops On Cancer Quota

Orinda was a dead-heat winner with Pleasant Hill in becoming the first central Contra Costa community to top its quota in the just-concluded American Cancer Society fund-raising campaign.

Mrs. David R. Iventosch, Orinda drive chairman, reported a total contribution of $7,552 on Monday, with late returns still to come in from some residents who were not at home when local volunteers called.

Orinda's quota was $7500.

Mrs. Iventosch expressed her thanks not only to her area chairmen and their captains, "but particularly to the 350 Orinda women who walked from house-to-house to attain this contribution for medical research and life-saving public education," she said.

Pleasant Hill by Monday had exceeded its quota of $3600 with a total of $3894, Chairman Mrs. Lyle Palmer reported.

Wayward Girls Facility Asked in Crime Report

A facility for Contra Costa's wayward and neglected girls should be planned immediately, according to County Probation Officer John A. Davis.

"The resources for teen-age girls who are in need of institutional treatment are almost non-existent," Davis charged.

Davis urged planning for the facility through his department's annual report, released late last week.

It showed that 145 girls were referred to the juvenile court for specific offenses, 370 for delinquent tendencies, 270 for neglect or parental abuse and 104 for special investigation during 1962.

THE TOTAL for girls in the first three categories is actually 13 less than for the previous year, but the total number of delinquent and neglected children continued to climb.

And, Davis noted, there was a sharp rise in the average daily population of Juvenile Hall, from less than 120 in 1961 to over 135 in 1962. Rated capacity for the hall is 85 children.

A girls' facility, he said, has been a "major need for a long period" and would provide immediate relief to the girls' division in Juvenile Hall.

FOR THE FIRST time, the annual report indicated juvenile cases by area of residence in a census tract rather than by school district—a change called "a noteworthy refinement" by Davis.

The area figures show, in the central county region:

Pleasant Hill: 53 boys and eight girls, delinquent referrals; seven boys, four girls, non-delinquent referral.

Walnut Creek: 68 and 14 delinquent; three and nine non-delinquent.

Alamo-Danville: 25 and eight delinquent; two and one non-delinquent.

Moraga: Seven delinquent boys, no girls; no non-delinquent referrals, male or female.

Orinda: Fourteen delinquent boys, two delinquent girls; no non-delinquent referrals.

THE FIGURES represent a comparatively small group of so-called "hard core" offenders for whom the customary reprimand is inadequate remedy.

Residents of the Walnut Creek-Lafayette - Orinda - Moraga "T" may take some comfort in the fact that, although the boundaries have been changed a bit, referrals from the area were down by over 30 cases from the previous year.

The decease contradicated a county-wide trend as arrests of juveniles increased with the juvenile population.

But, while over 12,000 persons between the ages of 10 and 17 were arrested in the county during 1962, it was the first year in five that the population boom surpassed the booming juvenile crime rate.

IN 1961 THERE were 17.78 arrests per 100 in the age group. Last year the rate dropped a fraction to 17.55.

Still, there were over five more arrests being made for every 100 youngsters than there were in 1957, probation department tables show.

And over 200 more were admitted to Juvenile Hall last year than in 1961.

A bit of the pressure was taken off Juvenile Hall by the Mizpah Circle of King's Daughters, which was commended in the report for providing a temporary home for six girls.

BUT, SAID DAVIS, the lack of a facility for girls "results in placing girls in settings which are not meeting their needs, and consequent failure and further damage to the girl is the result."

In addition, Davis said an intensive treatment, day-care program for delinquents of both sexes is also in the planning stage.

Worst problem of all, the probation officer holds, is ever-increasing crowding at Juvenile Hall.

"This pressure could be relieved . . . (by) sharply increasing the number of Deputy Probation Officer positions on the staff," Davis claimed.

Such a move would enable deputies to work with manageable caseloads and provide time for adequate supervision and counseling for minors and their families, he said.

Budget figures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1963, show that the probation department cost county taxpayers over $2 million. Well over half of that amount was spent in cases involving juveniles.

The annual report was submitted to Juvenile Court Judge Wakefield Taylor.

Appeal Due After BARTD Decision

Monday afternoon final arguments on two remaining issues in the rapid transit trial will be filed by attorneys with Superior Court Judge Martin E. Rothenberg.

By Wednesday, Rothenberg is expected to rule on:

1. Whether or not a "fiduciary" relationship existed between conventuring engineers and the Bay Area Rapid Transit District; whether such a relationship may have required engineers to fully disclose to the district all facts of their contract, including estimated profits; and, if so, whether engineers lived up to these requirements.

2. Whether the district spent funds illegally to influence the election; or whether such funds were expended legally to inform the public of district plans and progress.

INVOLVED in the second issue is the possibility that B. R. Stokes, district information officer and assistant general manager, may have to repay his salary to the district.

Rothenberg indicated last week he would limit the time in question to between July, 1962 (when the three-county plan was approved for the ballot by county governments) and November 6, 1962, the date of the $792 million bond election.

At the same time, district officers will have a better idea of whether to proceed with a counter-suit for damages against the four taxpayers who hauled them into court.

John M. Peirce, district general manager, has confirmed reports that the district had discussed a counter-suit informally.

THE SUIT, if filed, would hold that delays by the trial cost the district, and the taxpayers at large supporting it, $67,000 a day.

Citizens for Rapid Transit Now, who have not mentioned the possibility of a counter-suit, placed the cost of delays at around $25 million.

Carl H. Rehfuss, Contra Costa chairman of the citizens' group, said the advent of rapid transit service would be "perhaps a year later" than earlier thought.

"These four plaintiffs," Rehfuss said, have succeeded in at least one of their objectives, which was to delay the beginning of rapid transit construction.

THE PLAINTIFFS, moreover have indicated through attorney David E. Birenbaum that they're not through yet.

Birenbaum said last week he will appeal Rothenberg's decision to the state supreme court to try to overturn the ruling that the election and the bond were valid.

District counsel Wallace L. Kaapcke has advised the BARTD board not to file a counter-suit until the threatened appeal is resolved.

Birenbaum has left 52 of the allowed 60 days in which to file his appeal.

WHILE DISTRICT officers pondered the advisability of a suit, and wondered how soon Birenbaum would appeal, Rehfuss noted that the trial was "a tremendous vindication of the soundness of the plan approved by the voters."

"Never has the issue of rapid transit had a better airing than it got in the trial in Martinez," the citizens' group spokesman said.

"It became obvious that BARTD's directors, economists and engineers have done a magnificent and conscientious job in preparing this system for the Bay Area, and deserve nothing but the most enthusiastic gratitude of the citizens of the three counties," he said.

In marked contrast to Rehfuss' statement, Judge Rothenberg noted in his decision that "the case is concerned purely with legal issues."

The question of the merits of the transit plan itself was not before the court, he explained.

A Counter-Counter-Suit Threat

Attorney David E. Birenbaum has labeled a threatened counter suit in the Rapid Transit trial a "laughable" proposition.

Worse, he said this week, it's "an obvious attempt to scare and intimidate my clients and to discourage them from appealing Judge Rothenberg's decision.

The plaintiffs are Oakland City Councilman Robert L. Osborne, El Cerrito Mayor Dewayne Bobblitt, Brentwood rancher Stanley Nunn and Junior Gertsche, San Francisco.

Birenbaum said if the suit were filed "we will answer with a counter-counter suit in the millions of dollars against every employe and director of the district."

At the same time, Oakland transit foe and public relations man Ad Fried announced the decision in Martinez "meant nothing" to Citizens for Reconsideration of Rapid Transit Taxes.

The group, which has been circulating petitions aimed at dissolving the district, announced that they had never questioned the legality of the district and election.

The system and the taxes are what the organization objects to.

High Hopes for Mental Health Outpatient Clinics in Our County

ELATED COUNCIL LEADERS—Mrs. Harold York, organizer of the dance Frank Sinatra could not attend, gets busses (Irish dialect, kiss-type) from (left to right) Council for the Retarded President Robert Lowe and Treasurer Laird Durham. The singer, unable to attend the benefit, sent a bus (yellow, school-type) instead when he heard of the agency's transportation plight. Durham receives funds here.

Mental Health Exec Says Facilities Virtually OK

Construction of two outpatient facilities for handicapped children in Contra Costa is virtually assured, The Sun was advised early this week.

County Mental Health Association Director Estelle Girande said Monday that backers of the proposed Contra Costa Children's Institute and Training Center were confident that pending legislation would supply the needed funds.

She implied that an application filed with the state by the county board of supervisors for $750,000 for construction and $100,000 for land acquisition was a sign that negotiations with the State Mental Hygiene Department had been successful.

DR. GEORGE DEGNAN, county medical officer who has met with Department of Mental Hygiene Community Organizational Specialist Max Bogner, was authorized to file the application.

Dr. Degnan himself cautioned that the application was only the first step. "We're a long way from state approval yet," he said.

Contra Costa has been vying with three other counties for funds expected from the state department of social welfare and public health, county public health, and school monies since November.

In his discussion, Degnan was joined by members of a citizens committee for the Children's Institute.

THE TWO facilities will be located in west and central Contra Costa. Professional observers say that a site adjacent to John Muir Memorial Hospital—now under construction in Walnut Creek—has been considered for the central county facility.

The facility will serve three prime groups: infants to age seven; school-age children unable to participate in existing classes; and post-school or older age groups.

In an announcement from President The Reverend Aron S. Gilmartin, the Contra Costa Mental Health Association said early-age diagnosis would be stressed, with family counselling for all groups.

EACH DAY-CARE facility should be able to handle 132 patients with 40 trainees, according to the initial draft, with an anticipated eight classrooms, multi-purpose areas, administration office and service areas.

Citizen Committee members include:

Ralph Jarrett, guidance for retarded; Terry Haws, council for retarded of East Contra Costa County, Inc.; Mrs. T. Wilson, We Care and Cerebral Palsy Society; Francis Burke, Ph.D., county school department.

L. E. Herman, Neurologically Handicapped Society of Contra Costa County; H. L. Blum, M.D., county health officer; Jean E. Neighbor, M.D., professional advisor chairman, Contra Costa County Mental Health Association; Mrs. Estelle Girande, executive director, Contra County Mental Health Association and Richard Sax, executive director, Council of Community Services.

SUPPORTING organizations for this private facility include:

Rehabilitation Council; International Council for Exceptional Children; County School Department; Parents Association for Rehabilitation of the Mental Health Association; Las Trampas School.

Easter Seal Society for Contra Costa; Mental Retardation Information Council; The Administrative Council of the Mt. Diablo Unified School District.

2 More Machines

A new type voting machine, smaller than a briefcase and which could greatly speed up vote counting in California while reducing the cost, was demonstrated Tuesday to the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors.

The machine's inventor, Prof. Joseph P. Harris of the University of California political science department at Berkeley, said it will cost "under $100," and will permit counting of the ballots by computer machines at the rate of 800 ballots a minute.

Present voting machine are bulky, involving storage and handling problems, and cost from $1500 to $2000 each, he said.

BALLOTS PUNCHED by voters of an average precinct, using the Harris machine, could be counted by a computer in 15 seconds, and all of Contra Costa votes could be counted by one computer within four hours—or less time if additional machines were rented, Harris estimated.

The computer would also print the vote totals.

California, where ballots are long and voting is often heavy, has been under fire of news-gathering agencies at election time because it is sometimes days before many precincts and counties have an official vote tabulation available.

A FEW COUNTIES have provided the large-size voting machines, but the rapidly increasing population of the state has made it look too expensive for other counties to provide machines.

The Harris machine was one of two shown supervisors at their Tuesday meeting.

The other, which also works with tabulating cards, was demonstrated by a representative of the Coyle Voting Machine Company.

So far the supervisors have witnessed the demonstration of five machines. In the case of one, Coleman, the county's governing group traveled to Bakersfield several weeks ago to watch the computer in action.

JAMES KENNY, board chairman, set 2 p.m. Tuesday as time for all voting machine firms to submit their proposals, which then will be taken under consideration by the supervisors.

The supervisors, as yet, have made no public announcement that they're committing themselves toward the purchase of voting machines.

Date Set for Receipt of New Airport Motel Bids

Proposals from firms that would like to engage in a large-scale operation at Buchanan Airport must be received by the county's board of supervisors June 18.

The successful bidder will be required to post a $15,000 bond with the county. He also must build a motel of at least 100 units and have all his plans ready for execution within six months after he's completed negotiations with the county.

AT TUESDAY'S meeting Supervisor Ed Linscheid argued that the minimum number of units should be 75 and not 100, with the motel owner then able to add more units at a later date.

This point was countered by Supervisor Mel Nielsen who stressed the minimum unit construction should be at least 100 since the Concord Inn already had undergone two expansions of increased business in the area.

Nielsen also recommended that the successful bidder be ready to have his plans completed within four months after being awarded the contract, then he relented to let the period be extended to six months.

THE LEASE arrangement for construction of a motel at the airport was formerly held by the Signal Development Company in Southern California.

Signal was to build the motel and then lease it to Trans Western of Santa Rosa. Trans Western now operates eight luxurious motels throughout the state.

However, Signal never got the building started at Buchanan within the specified period and at Tuesday's meeting of the supervisors had to forfeit its $5000 deposit.

James Stockman, president of Trans-Western, had asked the supervisors two weeks ago to transfer the lease to his firm since Signal was building the motel for him anyway.

IF STOCKMAN does successfully bid for the lease he plans to construct a motel costing more than $1 million.

The supervisors refused, however, to transfer the lease and threw the bidding open to all parties.

Stockman's firm will undoubtedly be one of the bidders.

WEEKEND WEATHER FORECAST

The United States Weather Bureau forecasts sunny skies for over the weekend. And sopping wet Contra Costans are hoping it is true. (The county's wettest spot, Orinda has had a seasonal rainfall of 48.52 inches.)

TODAY—Chance of showers in afternoon, night.

TOMORROW—Fair.

SUNDAY—Sun is expected to shine on Mother.

Rising temperature trend is seen for Saturday and Sunday. A gentle westerly wind will prevail. Today the temperature will be slightly below normal and is expected to gradually rise over the weekend.

Sinatra Buys a Bus for Retarded

Singer Frank Sinatra has bought a bus for central county mentally retarded kids.

The arrangement, subject of rumor for several days, was confirmed by representatives of the East Contra Costa Council for the Retarded yesterday.

The council, which maintains a pre-school in Danville and a training center in Walnut Creek, had asked Sinatra to sing at a benefit dance held early this month.

INSTEAD, Frank offered to purchase the bus the council was seeking.

Parker-Robb Chevrolet is the agent involved, and is reported selling the Greenbriar bus at cost to the council.

The council, hoping for a statement from Sinatra, had tried to keep the story quiet until a formal announcement might be made.

The singer, whose many charitable actions in the last few years have made print in only a few cases could not be reached for comment.

By week's end, Council Treasurer Laird Durham despaired of holding the story any longer, despite the fact that several newspapers had agreed to wait on the story.

Delivery of the vehicle is expected within two weeks.

WITH FUNDS the council had already accumulated for the Greenbriar, Laird said yet another bus would be puchased.

The vehicles will be used to transport to the Lynn School in Danville and the training center in Walnut Creek.

The news came as the council initiated a special fund-raising campaingn to expand their cramped centers in order to aid more mentally retarded children in the area.

For the past several weeks, the council has been receiving funds from The Sun Newspapers for subscriptions to the four newspapers council representatives have sold by telephone.

Net proceeds of all subscription monies have been turned over to the council in the names of the individual subscribers.

Thieves Steal Car's Transmission

Garage-type thieves continued their activities throughout the week in the Central County area, sheriff's depuies reported yesterday.

In one instance, they hoisted a car to make off with a four-speed transmission, and in the other, they stole $400 worth of golfing equipment.

The transmission was stolen from the car of Mrs. John Barneson, 686 Glenside Drive, Lafayette, who had the machine parked in her garage.

ALL THE THIEVES did was to slide the station wagon out while Mrs. Barneson and her family were asleep, get the rear wheels up on blocks, and take out the transmission. Police estimated the transmission's worth at $400.

The golf equipment including clubs, bag and cart were taken from the garage of Wayne Bickering, a management consultant, of 3217 Gold Court, also Lafayette.

In Pleasant Hill, Mrs. Merime Allen, 32 Elliott Drive, was at work as a clerk in a variety store when she noticed an 11-year-old boy trying to leave the establishment with a toy plastic bank under one arm.

WHEN MRS. ALLEN stopped him the boy whipped out a knife and threatened her.

The clerk moved swiftly, disarmed the lad, and turned him over to police.

Orinda Will Be At Unification Meet: Ainsworth

Orinda will be there when the next meeting on unification under Plan "F" is discussed by the augmented committee on school district organization May 21 at Pine Grove School, Orinda.

"Orinda will be represented," said J. Gordon Ainsworth, chairman of the Orinda Union School District Board.

Absence of the school district representative at the last unification meeting was in part responsible for failure to approve the unification plan in the western end of the Acalanes High School District.

Plan "F" was approved by the committee meeting in the eastern area several weeks ago.

The proposal, if apporved by the state and then by voters in the districts involved would create two unified districts where six districts now exist.

The western district would be composed of Moraga, Canyon and Orinda school districts, plus Miramonte and Campolindo High Schools.

To the east, Walnut Creek and Lafayette would merge to unify with Acalanes, Del Valle and Las Lomas High Schools.

The Acalanes High School District, which would be "dismembered" by the plan, has consistently voted against it.

League to Hold Fund Breakfast

Concord-Diablo Valley League of Women Voters is preparing for its annual fund drive, under the leadership of Mrs. Harry P. Davis of Orinda.

Tuesday at 9 a.m. there will be a breakfast served at the home of Mrs. Sam Harris at 130 Sutherland Drive in Walnut Creek for the solicitors, who will then call on local contributors for help in underwriting the services throughout the year performed by the league, whose main concern is in an informed electorate.

Last year in the Diablo Valley area the league held candidates' meetings for school board elections in Concord, Walnut Creek, Alamo and Danville and for assembly and congressional candidates there and in Lafayette, Orinda and Pleasant Hill.

Voters were registered in convenient locations for the primary and general elections.

DREAM SEQUENCE FROM THE WIZARD OF OZ, TO BE GIVEN SUNDAY

Viewing the Arts

Off To See the Wizard

A special Mother's Day treat is in store for Contra Costa school children and their parents Sunday. The California Playhouse bring their delightful musical version of the celebrated "Wizard of Oz" to Miramonte High School in Orinda for two performances, at 1:30 and 7:30 p.m.

The holiday program is free and open to the public. No admission is to be charged for students or adults. The "Wizard of Oz" tour is under the auspices of the Seven-Up Bottling Company as a community service.

ACCORDING TO Mark Fidler, executive producer, this is the first time that the authorized musical version of the famous motion picture which brought fame and fortune to Judy Garland will be presented in Contra Costa County.

Directed and choreographed by Raoul Pause', the "Wizard of Oz" features a cast of 50 talented performers. James Campodonico, whose last musical success was the charming "Fantastics," is the brilliant young musical director.

THE INVENTIVE, colorful scenery was designed and executed by Duke McLane, whose work in "The Music Man" is well remembered.

June de Longchamps, lately of Broadway, worked up the beautiful costumes for the two-act show. Music and lyrics were composed by E. Y. Harburg and Harold Arlen.

The book by Frank Baum has been read by an estimated 80,000,000 people. It has delighted audiences of children and grown-ups in theatres all over the world.

In recent years the motion picture version has become a Christmas Season tradition. It's a warm and whimsical story with plenty of excitement and thrills, and with messages galore for the young viewers.

BUT MOST OF ALL, "The Wizard of Oz" has a bubbling musical score highlighted by one of the greatest songs in American popular music, "Over the Rainbow."

Heading the cast are Luanne Briggs and Merrille Meyers, alternating as Dorothy, the young and beguiling Kansas school girl whose dreams take her into the enchanting Land of Oz.

The Tin Woodman is played by Christopher Brooks, who joins Dorothy on the Yellow Brick Road in hopes of securing a heart.

TIM DOYLE and Tom Woods alternate as the Scarecrow, putting their faith in Dorothy so that she can persuade the Wizard to give them a brain. The Cowardly Lion is played by Don Renzulli and George McKittrick, who seek courage from the Wizard.

The story has many morals and much charm. Its magic is delightful and refreshing for young and old.

There is no reserved seating. Admission is free. First come—first served.

Board Of Supervisors

The Contra Costa County board of supervisors took the following action at their Tuesday meeting:

VOTING MACHINE—Witnessed two more demonstrations Tuesday. Supervisor then agreed that all proposals can be submitted to county at 2 p.m. Tuesday, which will be taken under consideration.

BUCHANAN MOTEL—Set 10:30 a.m. June 18 as date for proposals to be submitted for construction of a new motel of at least 100 units. Successful bidder must give county a $15,000 deposit. Former successful bidder had to forfeit $5000 to county because building project wasn't started within the time limit.

OLYMPIC BOULEVARD—Asked planning commission for a recommendation on the precise highway setback line for a portion of the proposed thoroughfare. Okayed an agreement with Walnut Creek for road work along Tice Valley Boulevard.

FIRE DISTRICT—Reappointed Lloyd Matthews to Danville Fire District Commission.

VETERANS—Set next week as "Hire a Veteran Week."

AIRPORT—Took no action on a "grievance" questionnaire being sent out by Dr. L. E. Arnaud, Walnut Creek physician, regarding airport operation and policy. Questionnaire is being sent to 200 airplane owners, pilots and individuals. Airport Manager Marvin Scott scoffed at some of the allegations raised, claiming the airport could use "boosts, not knocks."

BOYS' RANCH—Acknowledged receipt of a state report regarding inspection of the county's boys' ranch. Report said the ranch's community relationships are excellent and progressive ideas to integrate the rehabilitation program with family and community are constantly being explored. As a result, the state will continue its maintenance and operation subsidy for the ranch.

Nature vs. Plastic: A Grave-Side Quarrel

Is it the thought that counts when you place flowers on the grave of a loved one?

And does the thought become artificial if the flowers are?

A. E. Gilbert of Walnut Creek, angry at a local cemetery which has just placed a ban on artificial blooms except on special occasions, would answer "yes" to the first question, "no" to the second.

But the Oakmont Memorial Park, a beautifully simple cemetery high n the Lafayette hills, contends that as artificial flowers "become dirty and unsightly, they create an impression of neglect, rather than of remembrance."

This was one of the reasons given in a form letter explaining the prohibition which Gilbert and other patrons received recently from the park's board of trustees.

FLORAL TRIBUTE: REAL OR FAKE?

A SURVEY of cemeteries in the immediate area revealed that, while the plastic blooms do create problems, they are generally allowed.

At the same time, a local purveyor of "permanent flowers" said that they must and will fade in the sun, indicating they are not made for outdoor use.

"Flowers come from God," said the letter Gilbert received, "and are a fitting symbol of life in all its beauty. Flowers are the embodiment of our hope for eternal life.

"The use of flowers therefore, is an eloquent testimony of love and respect, and is a beautiful and effective memorialization."

TO THIS POINT, Gilbert wrote back to Oakmont, he concurred.

"Thereafter," however, "we part company."

"Cut flowers are nice," Gilbert wrote, "for those who like them, ONLY while they are fresh.

"My late wife loved growing flowers and plants ,both indoors and out, but disliked cut flowers so that she seldom allowed them in the house.

"They become garbage all too soon."

AT THE CEMETERY the neatly shorn lawn is bright with several dozen slightly fluorescent bouquets of artificial flowers; only some of the comparatively few natural blossoms begin to curl and darken in the sun.

General Manager Darrol Findley explained that most of the artificial flowers had been placed recently under the new rules.

"Memorials may be decorated," say the rules, "only with cut flowers in regulation vases, except at the time of interment, entombment or inurnment, and on Easter, Mother's Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

"ON THESE OCCASIONS, potted plants and baskets of flowers may be placed, at the owner's responsibility, for three (3) days; these special receptacles should then be called for promptly."

But, Gilbert wrote, "I suggest that under your policy flowers will be largely absent, except from those who visit their loved ones' graves every day or so."

He also suggested that the new policy would make lawn-mowing "much less tedious and therefore less expensive."

"ECONOMICS have nothing to do with it," Findley told The Sun.

"It costs just as much to move a bouquet of natural flowers for mowing as it does to move the artificial ones."

But, he said, the artificial flowers do wither and become brittle and their blossoms fall like those from natural plants.

"And plastic flowers stain the mausoleum when placed in vases on the outside; another thing is that kids steal them," he said.

MEMORY GARDENS Cemetery, Concord, allows the plastic blossoms, as do other cemeteries contacted. "But," explains General Manager Larry Cordeiro, "unfortunately we have to pick them up and dispose of them at mowing time just as we would with real flowers."

Rolling Hills in Richmond has a rule against artificial flowers, but does not enforce it. "The rules were framed before such nice looking flowers came into general use," a spokesman said.

"We have many on the grounds and find it difficult to tell the difference."

ANOTHER East Bay cemetry prohibits plastic in the columbarium or mausoleum, but allows the blooms on the grounds.

"We call them 'permanent' rather than 'artificial' flowers, but they do fade in sunlight," said Dot Happoldt, proprietress of The Flower Dot in Walnut Creek.

"Most of our arrangements are sold for indoor use," she said.

Even if Gilbert could accept real flowers, he has another problem.

"Incidentally," he wrote the park in a post script, "the vase on my wife's grave won't hold water."

Miramonte Team, WC Boy Win AAUW Math Contest

Miramonte High School walked away with top team honors from the Sixth Annual Math Meet sponsored by the American Association of University Women, Walnut Creek branch.

Competing against 14 other high schools in the county, Miramonte won the top team trophy for the second straight year.

Team members include: Steve Cantrill, Brian Cartwright, Mike Sorem and Ken White.

White, team captain, is one of two National Merit Scholars in the county.

Individual honors were taken by Kent Soeters (Las Lomas High), Bernard Simonsen and Cantrill, while Clayton Valley High took second in team competition.

Some 56 students participated in the Meet representing 14 high schools in Contra Costa County. After the tests a tour of the DVC museum and planetarium was conducted by Stanley Byrne and Robert Duke.

The students, their faculty representatives, AAUW members and businessmen, serving as co-hosts from industry, were among the 150 who attended the awards banquet at the college.

Walnut Creek Branch of the American Association of University Women reports that the purpose of the meet is threefold:

To promote a healthy respect for learning, to contribute to the students' emotional growth and to give the youngsters an opportunity to display their skills and accomplishments in their own community.

Dr. Colbert T. Purvis is a mathematics professor at Alameda State College.

Dr. Purvis received his B.S. at Georgia Teachers College, his M.S. at East Texas State Teachers College and his Ph.D. at George Peabody College for Teachers in Tennessee.

Mrs. John D. Foster was chairman of the meet.

Assisting her with the arrangements were the Mesdames S. J. Brady, Paul Broadhead, Philip Campbell, Walter Hambleton, James Mackey, Donald Sherman, Howard Smith and Dorr Yeager.

Mrs. Oscar D. Anderson, last year's chairman, presented the certificates of merit to each participating student, and the trophies to the first and second place teams and the individual winner.

'Tell Me a Story!'

Whether squatting near the fire in a cave or cradled in the form-fitting plastic and chrome chairs of a modern library, the audience pays rapt attention to the story-teller.

The speaker may have been an aged leader of a cave-man clan, a sightless bard—or Mrs. Norma Melnicoe, Walnut Creek children's librarian.

There is a reason for the similarity in that bond of attention which can be seen on several afternoons in libraries throughout the central county area.

The story, then and now, may be very much the same.

"THE STORY-TELLING program initiated throughout the county library system recently is part of the current revival of interest throughout the country in the ancient art," Mrs. Melnicoe explained last week.

One of awo county librarians presenting the weekly story-hours for school-age boys and girls, Mrs. Melnicoe calls the old art "a means of acquainting the young with our literary heritage."

"And," she added pointedly, "an antidote to the mechanization and artificiality of current modes of entertainment."

Long before television created strange afternoon rites for youngsters in darkened living rooms, the Brothers Grimm became the first to collect and write down the folk tales of their own country.

"THEY WERE rapidly followed by others who performed the same task for nearly every country in the world," Mrs. Melnicoe observed.

"The astonishing fact emerged," she went on, "that throughout the world similar themes and motifs were utilized in the stories."

These themes were often arranged uniquely and flavored with the spirit of the peoples in the region, the librarian conceded.

"But the exciting discovery convinced scholars that traditional folk-lore was birthed in antiquity."

Theories of the progress of the tales conflict, Mrs. Melnicoe pointed out.

"SCHOLARS FEEL that folklore was transferred either by word of mouth from India and throughout the Arab world, through Europe to its northernmost tip and to the ends of the Orient—or (according to recent Freudian theories) that is analogizes universal longings and fears of mankind any and everywhere," she explained.

So great is the respect for the ancient subject that graduate library schools are offering courses in story telling.

"One prominent university has even established a chair in folklore," the librarian said.

DESPITE THE scholarly activity which surrounds the subject, a story is still merely — and grandly—a story, for the youngsters.

"To the listener, these are merely tales of earthy humor, or enchantment, or delightful spine-tingling suspense.

"The under-dog comes out on top, cleverness wins over brute strength, the 'bad guys' are punished and the 'good guys' receive their just reward," Mrs. Melnicoe said.

And, while the plots may be similar, while there may be no new stories under the sun, the youngsters keep coming back for more.

STORIES may be heard in the central county area according to the following schedule:

Walnut Creek Library, Fridays, 4 to 4:30 p.m.

Central-Pleasant Hill Library, Tuesdays, 3:30 to 4 p.m.

San Ramon Valley Branch Library, Danville, occasionally, as announced.

Orinda Branch Library, occasionally, as announced.

Further information is available at any of these libraries.

ONCE UPON A TIME—Mrs. Norma Melnicoe, county library staff story-teller, begins another exciting tale for children as part of a new library program. The stories, Mrs. Melnicoe points out, may all have origins as old as man—and his children—himself. Sun photo

Mosquito Workers May Try 'Illegal' Strike

The threatened strike by employees of the Mosquito Abatement District may be illegal, District Manager Ernes Campbell said Tuesday.

"I'm no lawyer, but I believe the law generally prohibits strikes by public employees," Campbell told The Sun.

The employees, members of the Contra Costa County and Municipal Employees Association, Local 1675, AFL-CIO, voted unanimously late last week to take strike action against the district, according to Business Manager Henry L. Clarke.

The union is attempting to negotiate a contract with the district, and Clarke claims he has had no response to his request for a special meeting to discuss such a contract.

The district board meets regularly four times a year and, according to Campbell, will determine a retroactive budget and salary schedule in the second week of July.

Clarke charged that Campbell was anti-union and that he had failed to deduct employer-employee contributions for Social Security payments in four cases and that retirement payments had not been deducted for four district employees.

Campbell said his attitude toward unions meant little because he did not make policy.

"The district board," he said, "has looked upon civil service arrangements as the logical procedure under which to administer public employees," he said.

Campbell conceded that deductions had been "overlooked" in two cases.

Does Your Car Need a Wash?

Awards Soon to Be Presented

The second annual scholarship award of $100 will again be presented by Lafayette Federal Savings and Loan Association to a graduating senior in the Acalanes Union High School District.

Harry L. Morrison, chairman and president of the board of Lafayette Federal, has announced this year's scholarship committee will be Neil Parsons, chairman of Acalanes Union High School District; Joseph Sheaff, superintendent, Orinda School District, and Brother S. Dominic, chairman, school of liberal arts, St. Mary's College.

THE FIRST annual fellowship award of two $25 savings accounts will be presented to a graduating eighth grade student from Fairview School and one from Stanley School, Lafayette.

Principals and teachers of the two schools will serve as the selection committee under the guidance of Dr. Francis Ebert, superintendent, Lafayette School District.

SING-A-LONG WITH JAYNE? —Agent Russell Ray thought singer Nelson Sardelli was using lovely Jayne Mansfield to publicize his night-club act—and that may be why he got clobbered by the brawny Brazilian last Thursday night at the Concord Inn.

This according to Hollywood columnist Owen Owens (who is business manager of the Concord Transcript in his spare time). Owens found himself in the midst of a one-punch melee during which the diminutive Ray was floored in the star's motel room.

Before Sardelli left the scene the blonde star of stage, screen and supermarkets reportedly asked the singer to repay her some $200 he owed her.

At last report the trio was reunited, just in case you're worried.

LAND BARON? — Attorney Gordon Turner, who represented ranchers in their successful fight to block the Oak Grove Manor Annexation in Walnut Creek, had developer Lou Scott tied up in legal knots, Sun sources say.

Scott, who wanted to annex on his own, knew a successful protest by the ranchers would block his plans for at least a year.

So why did he join the protestants? Because, we're told, Turner had tied up the property Scott negotiated for with a "must-protest clause in the sales agreement.

Also rueing his involvement with Turner this week is Jerry Tara, a county employee in the assessor's office who admitted to The Sun last week he did a little moonlighting for the attorney to make sure his assessed value figures were right.

CRADLE OF POLITICS . . . Pleasant Hill, which is sometimes known as a "college town" because of the cultural activities they enjoy as a result of close-by Diablo Valley College, now has another tie to that institution.

This one is political. First, the city's mayor, Lenard Grote, who is a government instructor at the college. And now, its chairman of the City Planning Commission, elected last week, Bruce Watson, social science instructor.

MACHINE AGE . . . Thanks to the accuracy of its IBM computers, the Mt. Diablo Unified School District now has exact figures on the number of students involved in turn-overs—a staggering 1000 a month! Of these, half are transferring around within the district's 43 schools and the other half are either moving in or moving out. All of which makes a lot of work for the machines processing those 1000 forms!

INTERESTED IN GOOD DEEDS? Well, there's a Lafayette woman who'd just as soon toss the thought right out the door.

As it so happens, the woman has a drinking problem and not too long back did her "dryin' out" at county hospital in Martinez. While there she became very friendly with another woman occupant and since the two were to be released on the same date our gal invited her friend over to the house.

The friend arrived and the two ladies strengthened their acquaintanceship, which consisted of four hours of imbibing from the bottle. Finally the Lafayette woman's friend departed, amid much adieu.

After she had left, the Lafayette woman discovered that much of her jewelry had been taken . . . exactly $1000 worth. Well, as we said before, this lady is interested in no more good deeds. No, sir.

No sense to mention names, but we know of one Lafayette woman who's slowly pulling her hair out from some of the antics going on about her house. . . . First the name plate attached to her residence was removed, then the house number. . . . She returned home the other night and found her mailbox stuffed with weeds, grass and other debris . . . then, later in the evening, she was jerked awake by a popping noise . . . firecrackers had been set off in the mailbox. . . . And not too long ago a two-pound can, filled with rocks, was placed on her roof . . . that merely prompted a leak which no doubt was appreciated by the woman resident during the heavy recent rains. . . . We might add, however, that the mischief-makers should watch out . . . they're just about to be watched themselves. . . .

OUT IN THE SUN AGAIN . . . the bright, bright sun of Hawaii is calling Irwin Black, state resident engineer on Caldecott Tunnel Bore Number Three. After giving Sun news editor Walt Wright the low-down on progress of the diggings, Black and his wife left to spend their 25th anniversary among the swaying palms. Wright? He's blinking his way around Walnut Creek, as usual . . .

High School Artists To Hold Show Monday

Art students in the five Acalanes Union High School District secondary schools — Acalanes Campolindo, Del Valle, Las Lomas and Miramonte high schools —will participate in a downtown exhibit of their handiwork next week.

The high school art show will be held in front of Capwells, Broadway, Walnut Creek, daily, Monday through Saturday.

Several hundred student artists will exhibit. The Acalanes district community is invited "to view and browse," according to high school art teachers who have been working with their students on the project for the past several weeks.

The show will mark the first time that the high schools of the Acalanes district have combined their art education effort in a single display.

STUDENT ART for the show has been selected in previous individual school showings and exhibits held during open house programs, Public School Week, in April at each of the high schools.

Work ranges from art in oils, water color, sculpture, pen and ink, etchings, to crafts designs in metal and other materials. Recent student award recipients in area art shows will be included in the exhibit.

Commenting on the art show and the place of art education in the high school, district assistant superintendent for education Lee Russell observed, "Art education is a part of the comprehensive educational opportunity modern high schools attempt to provide their students.

"This educational opportunity covers mathematics, science, foreign languages, English, history and government, business and industrial skills, music, health and hygiene, as well as art.

"Art in high school emphasizes the use of intellect and the development of sensitivity and creativeity," he said.

"IN THE ACALANES Union High School District, art affects three types of students: Those who create; those who perform or do; those who consume. For the high school art student, art is an experience that enlarges his appreciation of the world around him and the media and perspectives through which it may be seen.

"For the student exploring a possible career in art or an allied field, art education in high school may be an important threshold," he went on.

"What do we do in high school art? Come on and see for yourself," Russell encouraged an inviting parents and the public to the week-long show.

Art teachers participating in direction of the show include Richard Kepes and William O'Neil, Acalines High; Mrs. Karen Becker, Campolindo; Jack Howard and Lawrence Tanner, Del Valle; Miss Carol Montgomery and Mrs. Jane Manske, Las Lomas; and John Mack and Richard Gompf, Miramonte High.

"COME UP AND SEE MY ETCHINGS!"—Acalanes High art student Richard Chamberlain (left) shows fellow student Terri Durrel and teacher Dick Keyes some "hot-off-the-press" examples of the etching art he will exhibit next week.

FREEING FORMS—Joyce Gardiner,, Del Valle art student, molds the surface of her entry in the Acalanes Union High School District art show to be held at Capwell's, Walnut Creek, next week, as teacher Jack Howard watches her technique.

Mother's Day Coming to Valley

By YVONNE MAUZEY
376-4083

SUNDAY IS Mother's Day. I ran into an interesting article the other day. Do you know how Mother's Day was started? It was promoted by Miss Anna Jarvis in 1907, and adopted the next year in Pennsylvania. Mother's Day is celebrated on the second Sunday in May to observe the honoring of motherhood and the loving remembrance of one's mother.

A MOTHER to remember is Dottie Gorow, so absorbed in making a big impression on her guests that the wax flower center piece caught fire from the candles, unheeded, until everyone was fanning and blowing wondering what to do now!

PANCAKE BREAKFAST: Don't forget to get your tickets to the Lions' pancake breakfast May 26th. Plans for the annual breakfast are progressing nicely. The affair will be held at Marini's. The price is 50 cents all you can eat. AND THEY MEAN IT! They will be serving from 9 a.m. until all are served. So take your choice and come before church or after or anytime in between, but come. Bert Bennett is in charge of the breakfast this year and doing a wonderful job. Be sure to buy your tickets from any Lion, or you can get your tickets at Gimbo's, The Barn or Marini's.

SHIP AHOY! Our chief is now a captain. Al Baitx has been seen duding around in his new 18-foot motor powered boat. Really the cat's meow.

EVERYTHING HAPPENS TO US: Everything seems to happen at once doesn't it? Charlie Wright in the hospital with a coronary and Marie gets a muscle spasm in her back. She is feeling her chipper perky self as long as she is up, and not sitting or lying down. Wonder what she does at night? Hang from the chandelier? Charlie's mother is visiting and helping out with the children, so all is well. Charlie is feeling much better and at last report sitting up and looked his old self, but will still have to stay the full time. At last report he was bathing himself. What's wrong with him, Bathing himself when a pretty nurse will do it. They should have his head checked too!

LATE NEWS: But very worthwhile mentioning. A huge bouquet of roses should go to Bush Bushman of the Safeway store for his thoughtfulness at Eastertime. When the store closed Saturday before Easter he had many Easter lilies on hand. So he took his own time to check the churches in our area and location. Then to cap it all off went around in the drenching downpour to deliver the lilies to the churches for Easter Sunday. Not many store managers would bother, so here is one in a million.

CONDOLENCES:

To Jean and Wes Bergstedt. Jean's mother is very ill in an Oakland hospital. . . .

To Ruby and Vic Pagliero. Ruby's mother is quite ill and is to have surgery this week at Kaiser. Ruby's sister Florence is visiting from Kansas, and is a big help, and mother is so happy to see her.

Also to Lenore and Al Mohrmann. Lenore's father has had a stroke and is in serious condition. So Lenore and Rennie left for Iowa on an emergency instead of at the vacation pace that they were planning later in the month.

CONDOLENCES also to Ruth Freitas' sixth grade class who do not use Crest. So the note on the decayed deer's tooth taped to the door said.

The culprits? Mr. Zoomwalt's rival sixth grade class.

CONDOLENCES in capital letters to Ruth Van Newhyzen who has recently become a widow! A golf-widow that is! Seems Will has taken up golf and has become a real bug on the subject. He is spending every weekend at the game and most every night up at the school yard practicing.

BACK ON ALL TWO: Kitty Lynch is back on her feet after a fall from a fence and a sprain that kept her on crutches for 10 days. The fall was obtained while caring for her D--- Lamb as Lou, her mother, calls it. Kitty is a 4-H member and this her newest project.

NEW GRANDPARENTS: Shades of Grandma and Grandpa Verbridge: Clifford and Todie have just become proud new grandparents of a grandson David Richard Maxwell born May 5, weighing in at 7 pounds 11 ounces, in San Jose. Congratulations to you both.

SPRINGTRIPS: Bud and Faye Parker are leaving May 29 on a trip. Second honeymoon or what? The trip will include Las Vegas, Palm Springs and an overnight stay in Yosemite.

BOUQUET OF THANKS goes to Bob Watt and son Bob Jr. for taking on a job that needed to be done, just because it was there with no thought of thanks, or anyone even knowing that they had done it. Bob and Bob have mowed and cleaned up the parking lot and side area of the Moraga Ranch Swim Club. A big improvement it is too. Thanks a million from all of us!

REAL HORSEWOMEN are Gayla Perdue and Sherry Mauzey who were bucked off a horse in the street the other day. Gayla hurt her hip and leg and Sherry bumped her head and skinned her arms and knee. I spent a night worrying over that little gal. Thanks to all of you who called and offered assistance, or just your thoughts. Never knew there would be so many to pop up in an emergency. THANKS TO EVERYONE!

TRIP TO THE ORIENT: Leon Sparrow of 10 Fieldbrook is flying via Japan Air Lines DC-8 Courier on a buying trip. Sparrow is president of Sparrow and Company of San Francisco.

MORAGA VALLEY Presbyterian Church will have its Mother-Daughter Tea tomorrow. Youngsters modeling fashions from Heaven to Eleven will highlight the 2-4 p.m. affair at the Clinton Cooper home in Orinda. Call Lenore Mohrmann, 376-4182 for further info.

Forget Scooter Clune? Never, Says Community

By WALT WRIGHT

It's May now, and in the early evening Scooter Clune would be out at one of the local ball diamonds hustling around second base, taking a stand on the mound, sending some pep talk around the infield.

Except that Walton M. "Scooter" Clune II of Walnut Creek, who will be 17 this month, is paralyzed.

He has been paralyzed for just over a year.

"There's nothing different about Scoot; he just can't walk or talk."

That's Scooter's mother talking, who, with her husband, Walton M. Clune, has learned a rough kind of courage through 12 long months since the accident that cut their only child down.

THERE WAS nothing tragic about the accident itself; it was too simple.

On the afternoon of April 27, 1962, Scooter got into a car with a friend. They had just started to pull away from Scooter's house when another car struck them from behind.

Scooter was thrown forward, striking his head possibly against the dashboard or the gear shift lever.

He got out, apparently unhurt; so far it was a "minor" accident.

Half an hour later, while cleaning up broken glass and debris from the collision, Scooter suddenly felt nauseous.

HE WENT inside his home and collapsed.

Then began the Clunes' long fight; they are still fighting.

It was a strange, simple accident; it could have happened to anyone; this time it happened to the prototype of the "all-American boy" par excellence.

Because of this, to honor Scooter and to help his parents in the fight they have only begun, a group of interested citizens in Walnut Creek are organizing a "Scooter Clune Weekend" to be held June 7-9.

AT THE SAME time, a bank account to receive the proceeds from that weekend's activities and any other funds contributed by interested persons or organizations has been opened in the youth's name at the Walnut Creek Branch of the Wells Fargo Bank.

Under the general leadership of Gordon McNulty, the weekend will involve a teen-age dance organized by students Mal Cameron of Del Valle and Rich Gianni of Las Lomas high schools, a three-day hole-in-one golf contest, and an exhibition baseball game in City Park.

The City of Walnut Creek is making facilities available.

At least two local service clubs have indicated interest and more are expected; and the group spearheading the campaign grows daily.

THIS IS NOT the first effort made on Scooter's behalf. A church has been involved, and the boy's classmates at Del Valle recently held a "Scooter Clune Dance." On May 22 students plan a birthday party at his home.

"They never forget Scoot," Mrs. Clune said of his friends. "On weekends the house is full of company for him."

Scooter was, and is, liked; he is a favorite among his classmates, as anyone of them will tell you.

A musician, Scoot played both the trombone and the piano; as an athlete he'd been a hustling baseball player, a good swimmer and diver.

DID HE HAVE any other particular interests?

"Girls," said Mrs. Clune with a laugh. "He's a good looking boy, danced well . . ." She did not finish.

Scooter has improved. Today he can move his head and use his left hand slightly. Those who have visited him say he can respond to conversation by pressing one's hand with his fingers. He remains very alert.

And while confined to bed he is shooting through his adolescence; a scurrying five feet, eight inches at the time of the accident, he's grown to a lanky six feet, four inches.

ON THE DAY of the accident, Scooter was rushed to Kaiser Foundation Hospital where he spent six weeks, had two brain operations, and narrowly missed death.

Five weeks at Kaiser Rehabilitation Center in Vallejo followed, where the boy again almost died.

During four months at Stanford Convalescent Home, Scooter began to show some signs of improvement.

"He began to come alive again," Mrs. Clune puts it.

Since that time, except for an operation on crushed nerves in February, Scooter has lived in a hospital unit the Clunes have set up in the front room of their home at 108 Castle Hill Ranch Road in Walnut Creek.

There, in the near future, County Schools Speech Consultant Audrey Chak will work with Scooter through arrangements made by his high school and the Acalanes District.

Doctors' estimates of chances and possible extent of recovery vary, but Scooter and his family continue their fight.

And while they fight, an interested community is paying heed.

SCOOTER HANGS ON—Mr. and Mrs. Walton Clune have reason to be proud of their son Scooter, almost totally paralyzed since an accident a year ago. The grip of his left hand on the bar is a sign of hope for them—hope a thoughtful community plans to bolster with a "Scooter Clune Weekend."

4-H CLEAN-UP—Members of the Redwood Club pick up debris along highway. They are (from left) David Cullison, Grant Engle, Pierre Reiter and Chico Bernard.

4-H Clean-up Campaign

When Redwood 4-H Club members go in for publicity, they do it in a constructive way

Perhaps Sunday afternoon, a week ago, you noticed a pickup truck and a jeep bearing large "Redwood 4-H" signs, cruising along the roads of Moraga or Redwood Canyon. Had you followed either vehicle, you would have observed periodic stops while half a dozen teenagers (and some younger) piled out to pick up roadside rubbish.

Purpose of the 4-H highway clean up job was two fold: roadsides could do with a little cleaning up and at the same time members could publicize their club, in preparation for their annual membership drive.

THE DAY before their Sunday afternoon work, 4-H-ers also helped in the Canyon Community Club's annual clean up drive, clearing roadside brush, cleaning out creek beds, etc. Of the "haul" for both days, which included almost anything from face tissue to abandoned cars, about 50 per cent wis discarded beer cans.

Volunteers on the 4-H clean up crew included. David and Johnny Cullison, Chico Bernard, Nancy Cullison, Sherry Black, Jeff Melcher.

Also in the crew were junior leaders (all high school students): Chris Price, Pierre Reiter and Grant Engle.

The junk-gathering jeep was driven by cooking leader Mrs. Clyde Engle while 4-H community leader Homer Price was driver for his clean up crew in the pickup truck.

Enrollment for the Redwood 4-H Club begins next August and September. Interested boys and girls (ages 10 to 21) are invited to attend meetings prior to that time in order to find out just what a 4-H club is.

The club meets once a month at Canyon School in Redwood Canyon. Open house will be May 21 at 7:30. There are 39 members from Canyon-Moraga-Orinda areas.

'PORTRAIT OF JULIE' ATOP EL GAVILAN WINS SECOND IN INTERNATIONAL CONTEST

Martin White Photo Wins Prize

By JANE PUTNAM

What does it take to catch the spirit of a child in a portrait?

Martin White, Orinda photographer who won second place prize of $150 in Pouplar Photography's current contest (children's division), has the answer.

"I have a very strong feeling that the quickest way to destroy the real likeness of a child is to sit him on a bench and throw artificial lights at him," says White.

"HE HAS TO BE doing things that he enjoys doing in an atmosphere that is natural to him. A relationship has to be established between the protographer and child," White adds.

First prize went to an Italian Otherwise, a child can feel as if he's sitting in the doctor's office waiting for a shot."

The winners appear in the June issue of Popular Photography, now on the stands. Its editors stated that they were overwhelmed by the tremendous popularity of the contest.

Thousands of entries from all over the world were sent in. First prize went to an Italian photographer for a study of a pensive boy.

BY CONTRAST, the little girl in White's picture is sunshine and smiles. She is wind-blown, brownette, six-year-old Julie Deal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Deal of Orinda. The family is living temporarily in Holland where Deal is on duty for Shell Oil Company.

As he has done for many youngsters in Contra Costa, White has taken professional pictures of the Deal children since their birth.

The prize-winner was shot in the Deals' backyard atop El Gavilan, It was a professional assignment, not taken specifically for the contest or while "moonshining."

"My work is my pleasure," says White, who doesn't divide photography into "art" and "commercial" categories.

In the photographic world, Orinda may well be the world's number one community. Eminent photographers Wayne Miller and Joe Munroe are two of White's friends and neighbors.

THE PRIZE photo was taken with a Nikon S-2 f5.6 at 1/250 second on Plus-X film with no filter. He usually takes a roll of film of his subjects, but it depends upon the child. Some require more than 36 takes, others less.

MARTIN WHITE SHOWS WIFE MAUDE HOW NOT TO USE EXPOSURE METER

The Whites live at 134 Meadow Lane with six of the "least photographed" children in Orinda. White doesn't have time to keep the family album up to date!

The Orinda Camera Shop is exhibiting White's "Portrait of Julie."

Recently, he opened a new studio at 309 El Toyonal, which is sometimes referred to as Comb's Colony.

OWNER PRENTISS Combs is a well-known short story writer. His wife Lee is a photographer. Another member of the "colony" is artist Pat Feary.

White doesn't limit himself to taking children's pictures. He does wedding portraits and has several Bay Area industrial accounts.

His work has been exhibited at the Valley Art Center, Lafayette; Orinda library; and Claremont Hotel.

He has done free-lance photography for The Sun, Dramateurs and East Bay Cancer Crusade for 1963.

While an undergraduate at Western Reserve College, Cleveland, Ohio, he earned his first camera by taking photos for the yearbook.

THE WHITES have lived in Orinda 11 years.

Currently, he is published in America Illustrated, the Russians' counterpart of LIFE.

He and Joe Munroe recently did a film for the University of California on an experimental approach for teaching physics to young people.

It was made with a National Science Foundation Grant under Professor Robert Karplus, a former Orindian.

Last year, his photograph of Duffel-Smoot's Creekside Apartments in Walnut Creek appeared in House and Home, a publication of Time-Life.

As winning Popular Photography's contest was White's first international recognition, he found it "hard to believe." But those who have seen his work did not!.

Orindans In Campus Spotlight

From over the nation, at many different campuses, comes word that young Orindans are doing us proud in a varied lot of endeavors. Here are a few which have come to our attention recently:

JERRY ABENTH, a junior at Augustana Colege, recently was elected president of the Augustana Association for Christian Missions for the 1963-64 school year.

Abenth is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Irving C. Abenth, 123 Spring Road, Orinda.

A philosophy major, he is a member of the Lutheran Students' Asociation and Gamma Alpha Beta, men's social organization at Augustana.

BARBARA SYVERUD, Orinda, a sophomore at St. Olaf College, Northfield, Minn., has been selected to be a counselor of freshmen women during her junior year.

As a counselor, she will help the freshmen in her corridor get acquainted with college life and adjust to life at St. Olaf.

Barbara is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Syverud.

She has also been elected to the office of secretary of Kappa Theta Phi, women's society.

MICHELE ANGELO, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Angelo, 173 Camino Pablo, Orinda, was one of the leading members in the cast of a French play Wednesday. "Les Amants du Metro" by Jean Tardieu was presented by the French classes at Claremont Men's College.

Michele is a Scripps College junior. She is enrolled in the French classes at nearby Claremont Men's College.

LYNNE HOLMGREN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanford L. Holmgren of 15 Cascade Lane, is currently studying at the Colorado Woman's College in Denver, Colorado.

Lynne is a member of the Big Sis Club, an organization to promote friendship and understanding between the CWC student body and the new students. She is also a member of the ski club.

Lynne is a sophomore studying a liberal arts program with a field of concentration in foreign languages.

Junior Nite Club Opens On the Strip

The Happy Valley Inn in Lafayette recently opened under new management as a "junior night club" for the Central Contra Costa County younger set.

Sam Johnston, Danville businessman, said the club will feature top-level live dance music, a soft-drink bar, a controlled membership list and a "campus advisory senate" of young people to help set policies.

"THIS IS A tested formula to please parents and provide an adult-like but responsible atmosphere for members from 15 through 21, and their dates," he said. "While we will have deputized personnel to oversee deportment in the club and parking area, it's our experience that most young people are pretty responsible. Those who are not won't retain membership privileges."

The "campus senate," made up of student representatives from the several high school and college campuses in the area, already has asked for a policy of "no jeans, no pedal-pushers, no shorts, no sloppy-joe outfits," Johnston said.

During the summer months, Wednesday night dancing will be added to the Friday-Saturday night schedule.

"WE'LL HAVE professional bands engaged for Fridays and Saturdays, with members to be charged $2 for boys and $1.50 for girls," he said. "On Wednesdays we'll feature music by selected combos making their way up, and the door price will be reduced."

Johnston said that Sheriff Walter Young has approved the club's program, conforming to the established curfew laws, and will oversee enforcement of the no-drinking policies.

"We think this format will help fill a void in the growing-up process for the younger generation," Johnston said. "As the father of teen-age daughters of my own, we want a 'keep-it-fun' club keyed to their kind of music and their kind of fun—properly done."

Call Entrants In Music Meet For Pageant

The Walnut Creek Pageant of Arts, sponsored by the City of Walnut Creek under the auspices of the Civics Arts Commission, is planning an instrumental and vocal competition for all young musicians living in the central county area.

Performances will be judged by Nathan Schwartz and Julian White, both well-known musicians on the staff of the University of California.

Performers judged to be outstanding will participate in an evening concert to be held during the Pageant of Arts, May 30.

All students and young people, up to and including age 18, interested in auditioning are requested to send a letter of application to Bob Hurlbert, 491 La Vista Road, Walnut Creek.

The application must include the applicant's name, address, telephone number, age, and birth date, the instrument he plays, composition to be performed and the name of his teacher.

Duets, trios and numbers by larger groups are acceptable. Applications must be received by May 10.

Applicants will be notified by mail as to the time of their appearance.

Judging will take place on May 19 in Building 12 of the Music Department of Diablo Valley College.

Lunch Is on The Table . .

The following menu will be served in the cafeterias of the Orinda Union School district next week.

MONDAY—Barbecue beef on buttered bun; green salad; cake; peach half.

TUESDAY—Rich boy sandwich, lettuce and tomato; buttered peas; and apricots.

WEDNESDAY—Spaghetti with meat sauce, green salad; French roll; jello with fruit.

THURSDAY—beef pie with biscuits, green beans, sweet potato puffs; carrots and celery sticks.

FRIDAY—Tuna noodle salad, buttered spinach, fruit, hot rolls.

Senior All-Night 'Dig' Group Finalizes Plans

Plans are being finalized for Miramonte High School's big senior all-night party.

The student committee is under the chairmanship of Rick Cannon, senior class president. His group is busily promoting the event which will be at Orinda Country Club on the night of graduation, June 13, from 10 p.m. until 4 a.m.

KEYNOTING the affair will be dancing to the band of Jimmy Howard, who was such a hit at last year's all-night party. Also on the entertainment agenda are professional singers, April Stevens and Nino Tempo—great favorites with the teenage set—and folk singers Don and Jock.

A buffet supper will be served beginning at 11 p.m. A coke bar will be set up for refreshments during the evening. A breakfast of coffee and snails will be served.

"MANY WONDERFUL prizes, available through the generosity of senior parents who have contributed Blue Chip Stamps, will be offered to winners of games and as door prizes.

"More Blue Chip Stamps are needed," according to Mrs. Coleman Huntley, chairman of the parent committee which is coordinating the plans.

They may be brought to school by seniors who can drop them in the boxes provided in the American Problems classrooms.

Parents who haven't sent in checks yet for their senior student's tickets are asked to mail them to Mrs. Harry Minor, reservations chairman, 49 Park Lane Drive, Orinda.

Realtors Fight Pub. Housing Amendment

A flyer asking for voter pressure against an assembly constitutional amendment on public housing has been circulated by the Contra Costa Board of Realtors.

The board, predicting action on the amendment "within the next few days," said ACA 16 would repeal the local voter's right to vote on low rent of public housing to be acquired, constructed or developed in his area.

The amendment, the flyer indicated, places the authority in such matters in the hands of city councils or boards of supervisors.

Passage of the amendment would result in an initiative measure on the next state ballot and "qualified voters will be required to spend thousands of dollars to protect their present voting rights," the flyer claimed.

Robert Stephens, a French printer who divided the Greek New Testament into verses in 1551, is said to have done the work while riding horseback between Paris and Lyon.

St. Stephen's Day School To Enlarge

St. Stephen's Episcopal Day School, Orinda, recently announced the addition of a nursery school for three and four year old children which will open in September.

A two days per week program will be available for three-year-olds on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Four-year-old youngsters will attend on Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Nursery school hours will be from 9 a.m. until noon.

Applications are now being accepted for fall enrollment at the school, 12 Via Las Cruces, Orinda. Further information may be had by phoning 254-2162.

Sandra Buehler On Honor List

Sandra Buehler of Orinda was cited for academic achievement at Mills College, recently.

She was one of 12 members of this year's entering class named to the academic honors list.

Sandra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard P. Buehler of No. 6 Great Oak Circle, Orinda. She attended Miramonte High School.

Brace Yourself!

Would you like the county tax rate to go up 40 cents per $100 assessed valuation? Silly question, you say.

Although we certainly don't want such a thing to happen, it would if budget requests for 1963-64 were officially approved.

That's what J. P. McBrien, county administrator, told the board of supervisors recently.

IN HIS REPORT McBrien said 243 new positions are being sought by department heads.

Looking at all department requests, the proposed budget could exceed $62 million, McBrien said, and this does not include any allowance for salary increases and related fringe benefits. The present budget is approximately $52.3 million.

Since he made his report McBrien has been tight-lipped. He won't be saying anything more on the subject until June 1 when the budget report is submitted to the board of supervisors.

McBrien's report last month was just that and nothing more and most people didn't bother to get alarmed. We're sure many requests by department heads will be eliminated and the $10 million figure substantially reduced.

IT IS HOPED, however, that this little insight into county requests isn't part of a softening-up process prior to a big increase in the budget—although not nearly as bad as was originally mentioned.

What worries county taxpayers is that the $10-million increase mentioned does not increase salary increase and fringe benefits to county employees.

The supervisors have always been generous in the past.

Let's hope McBrien is able to hold back the tide. Otherwise 1963-64 might be a black one in Contra Costa County.

Can McBrien Hold the Line?

Nearing an End

Judge Martin Rothenberg's judgement that the Bay Area Rapid Transit District bond election is valid is a welcome one for Contra Costa's commuters.

Welcome, too, to most other Contra Costans (whether they know it yet or not). The district's lines will spark development throughout the entire county.

Today, in fact, several years before they are to be laid, the tracks are stimulating speculation everywhere.

THE DELAY the taxpayers' suit has caused—and is still causing—is not all lost time.

Few have mentioned it, but the suit, and the ruling, give BARTD a legal standing most public districts of this size are happy to have.

The district had the vote in fact; now it has the vote in law as well.

Contra Costans on both sides of the transit tracks now cannot but hope for speedy resolution of the balance of legal maneuvers.

When Judge Rothenberg rules on the balance of legal questions involved, he is expected to lift the restraining order which has paralyzed the district for five months.

The sooner this is done, the less each taxpayer will have to pay in the inflated land and construction costs which have come to several million dollars already.

Joe and Scooter

Joseph Funderberg of Pleasant Hill is four years old.

Walton M. "Scooter" Clune II of Walnut Creek is 16.

Both boys were normal and healthy until struck down by tragic accidents.

JOE WAS hit by a slow-moving automobile at a "blind" corner when he was in the street. That was almost three months ago. He's still in a coma.

Scooter was riding in a car that was involved in an accident. His head struck the dashboard or the gear shift lever. He collapsed a half-hour later and has been paralyzed for more than a year now.

You've read their stories in previous editions of The Sun.

Interested people in Pleasant Hill have set up a fund for Joe. They are also planning a talent night to raise funds.

THERE'S a "Scooter Clune Weekend" coming up in Walnut Creek June 7-9. A fund has also been set up for Scooter.

In years to come, these tragic stories could have happy endings.

But it will be a long fight.

If you want to help:

Joseph Funderberg Fund, Bank of America, Pleasant Hill.

Scooter Clune Fund, Wells Fargo Bank, Walnut Creek.

Mom--Who Celebrates When Her Work's Done!

Mother may be in for some special treatment Sunday, but everyday is Mother's Day. She usually observes it in her own less glamourous way—washing, ironing, cooking, cleaning, shopping and—probably her most important task—shaping reluctant offspring into adults.

In fact, historians tell us things might have been drastically different if it weren't for the influence of a few determined mothers.

MEN LIKE Washington, Lincoln, Edison and Longfellow are remembered for their greatness—but their mother's influence can be seen both in their personal writings and the reports of their lives

As The Sun's special salute to Mom on her day, we reprint these famed words:

"All I am, or ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother" . . . Abraham Lincoln.

"God could not be everywhere and therefore He made Mothers." . . . Sir Edwin Arnold.

"THE HAND that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world." . . . William Ross Wallace.

"Most of the beautiful things in life come by twos, and threes and dozens and hundreds. Plenty of roses, stars, picnics, sonnets, brothers, sisters, aunts and cousins, but only one mother in all the wide world."

On the contemporary scene, the verse on a Rust Craft card sums up the way most Contra Costa smallfry feel about the most beloved fixture in the house:

"Sunday is Mother's Day, Mom, try and get your work done early so you can celebrate with us."

Letters to The Editor

SOMETHING FOR GIRLS
Editor:

I have noted with interest your recent articles, editorials and letters to the editor concerning high school social clubs. I have been waiting for someone to mention clubs and organizations open to all girls—such as Tri-Hi L (YWCA); Horizon (Camp Fire Girls); 4-H clubs or the Girl Scout senior troops.

I cannot speak for the other groups, but as an adult volunteer and senior group leader I can speak for Girl Scouts in the Diablo Valley area.

The purpose of girl scouting is to inspire girls with the highest ideals of character, conduct, patriotism and service that they may become happy and resourceful citizens.

There are senior troops at San Ramon Valley, College Park, Acalanes, Del Valle, Las Lomas, Miramonte, Campolindo, Ygnacio Valley and Pleasant Hill high schools. Approximately 200 girls from ninth through 12th grades are members of these troops.

How is the purpose of girl scouting achieved?

The program offers outdoor activities including camping and boating; troop government which teaches democratic principles (the girls run their own troops by majority rule); service is given to hospitals, libraries, schools, churches, homes for youth and aged, fund-raising organizations (United Crusade, Heart, Cancer, Red Cross, etc.), A.F.S., Care and American Friends Service Committee through the aide program and/or troop service projects. International friendship is a program category that includes exchange Girl Scouts and Girl Guides to and from other countries, and opportunities to increase the girl's knowledge of other people and countries. Socially the girls have a wonderful time planning skating, skiing, swimming, theatre, overnight and pajama parties. Co-ed activities are varied and are with older Boy Scouts and/or high school boys. My troop has had co-ed dances, a skiing trip and is planning a clam dig with an Explorer troop from Lafayette. Other troops have similar activities including dances, dinners and trips with older Boy Scouts and other high school boys.

This is only a capsule of the many opportunities offered to girls in the Girl Scout organization.

Perhaps the above will give both parents and girls some idea of a varied program with only one membership.

In order to participate in all these clubs at high school, a girl would almost have to give up studying!

Sseriously though, all girls are welcome to join a senior troop whether she is new to scouting or just temporarily retired from scouting.

Contact the Diablo Valley Area Girl Scouts, 3570 Terrace Way, Lafayette, 284-4414 and you will be given the information you need to become a member of a Senior Girl Scout troop.

ANNEXATION RUSH?
Editor:

I have lived in the Hook Estate Tract since 1939. Our County Board of Supervisors have done as good a job of governing us as possible.

Some people in this tract have rushed a petition seeking annexation to Walnut Creek. The stated reason for their haste is: Assembly Bill 2015, co-authored by Assemblyman Knox of Richmond, which, if enacted into law, will allow cities to initiate annexation proceedings in fringe areas (ours is a fringe area). This bill has not been passed. So what is the big rush?

I am against annexation to any city. There is for Hook Estate Tract today no advantage in annexing to a city. Main disadvantages are: city tax billing added to the entire present taxes; and more rules and regulations—for instance compulsory bicycle licensing.

People who signed the annex petition suffering a change of mind after thinking twice are reminded they can sign a protest petition; or better still write a protest letter to the Walnut Creek City Council well ahead of the protest hearing deadline.

Then be sure to attend the protest hearing meeting.

Stand up; have your say, and be counted.

Do not be like dumb, driven cattle being led to the slaughter house—once annexed we can never get out—look at what happened to complaisant Larkey Lane and Graceland Acres area. It is your money!

COUNTY DOESN'T CARE
Dear Editor:

The City and County of San Francisco will not circumvent the twice-recorded opposition of the voters and will not build a County Courthouse.

"It is the Mayor's prime objection that the least purchase plan would ignore the will of the people—"

But not so with our county government.

WHO'S A CONSERVATIVE
Editor:

The Sun's editorial of May 3, "Who's on First" takes the liberty of equating conservatives and their goals with the radical right movements such as the "Birch Society" and the "Impeach Warren Groups."

To paraphrase Senator Thomas Kuchel's press release this week—"these people defile the honorable philosophy of conservatism with their claims as thoroughly as the Communist's defile the honorable philosophy of liberalism."

If The Sun persists in this editorial policy, which is an affront to a large number of conservatives in this area, it can do nothing but lose the public confidence they so earnestly seek in competition with the metropolitan newspapers.

If, on the other hand, The Sun will give equal time to articles which equate the radical left to the liberal establishment that is now running this country, the readers can ignore both with impunity.

Why All the Attraction To Buses?

By GEORGE COLBURN

Buses are playing an important part in our modern-day society.

Personally, I don't like to ride the smelly things.

But, Negroes in the South like them but don't like the back section and Catholics in Missouri don't like the idea of watching a school bus go by without their children on it.

And then, of course, we had the famous "Freedom Riders" who used to ride for miles just for the fun of being hauled off to jail.

GETTING closer to home, students at St. Catherine's School in Martinez also wanted to give up the family car for the public school buses.

Catholic parents in Martinez figured that since they pay school taxes just like the guy next door their children should be able to ride the school bus (just like the guy's kids next door, etc.).

And, after all, they pointed out, all they want to do was ride the bus to St. Catherine's on existing routes and existing times.

The issue was never really in doubt. The Martinez School Board last week said no in complete togetherness. There is nothing quite so politically foolish as supporting something Catholic even if JFK did upset the odds.

In Missouri, however, Catholics are trying to again upset the odds. And, if they don't watch out, they are going to steal the headlines from the Negro integrationists down South. In Missouri I'm sure they have already.

FOLLOWING the safe political line, a committee in the Missouri legislature committee killed a bill that would allow students at parochial schools to ride public school buses.

The politically-wise in Missouri are the same as anywhere else. You just don't support such "dynamiting."

But, if you are one who roots for the underdog, can you imagine those politicians the next morning when 622 Catholic students in Jefferson jammed aboard school buses and rode to public schools and demanded to be enrolled. Catholics have held this "club" for years, but never used it.

Figures state that it would cost an additional $66.5 million to educate all the Catholics in Missouri. "Financial disaster" to the state school system said State Commissioner of Education.

After that first-day success some Catholics in St. Louis say the city's schools had better brace for a landslide next year when all the Catholic schools are closed down.

Over in Martinez, the pastor of St. Catherine's says no such action is contemplated "for the present." There are 266 students in his school.

The Negroes threw the South into complete chaos when they awoke.

Violence and blood-spilling is not over in that section of the country.

The Catholics' awakening will probably be more of a name-calling variety.

THERE probably won't be any violence. It could mean, however, a nation-wide educational uprising. After all, there has been rumbling about JFK'S politically-safe attitude regarding federal aid to parochial schools.

Official sanction of the Missouri uprising has not come from the Catholic Church.

Bishops, the leaders of the clergy, have generally stayed out of the political pot. Hence, the Catholics have always been a passive bunch.

But, for some reason, those Missouri Catholics have decided to take an offensive position.

THIS IS going to hurt the "clean-nose" reputation Catholics have built up in this country—which enabled JFK to sneak in. A few years earlier he never would have made it as Al Smith could testify.

The politicians may stand firm (the bill to provide public transportation to private and parochial schools comes up every year and has always been defeated) and the Catholics may stand firm.

What can we expect?

Well, Missouri might gain fame in this county having graduates who have learned the least. "We can't expect to teach in this confusion," said one teacher.

Or what if all U.S. Catholics just stopped paying their school taxes?

Add a potential Catholic "revolution" with the very-real Negro one and we've got one very fouled-up country.

No need for alarm, however. Historians years from now will merely refer to all this as "growing pains" for that young country.

Tokyo--Crazy, Mixed-up City Is Fun, Friendly

(Editor's note: This is the second in the series of articles written on The Sun Orient Holiday.)

BY ELEANOR SILVERMAN

If all the tourists in Tokyo were laid end to end, they would extend three times around the circumference of the world, no doubt; but you certainly can't find them once you leave the main hotels and tourist restaurants.

Nobody, but nobody, talks English once you wander out of your hotel. If you don't have the name of your hotel written in Japanese to show your taxi driver, you may not even find your way home.

Thanks to the hospitality of the Japanese people the language barrier does not present a problem. You simply show the waitress what you want to eat by pointing to the wax model of the particular dish in the window outside the restaurant. The wax models look surprisingly delicious, but not as tempting as the boiling-hot real version.

Directions No Problems

As for directions, well that's no problem, either.

Wally Granberg of Orinda indicated to a small shopkeeper that he would like to find the way to the men's room. The shopkeeper promptly closed the store, and escorted Granberg across the street, under the subway, and down the block to the proper destination.

Tourists are such a curiosity in some sections that Ken Piper of Walnut Creek actually was asked to pose for a picture for one Japanese camera fan! ! !

Full of Surprises

Tokyo is a crazy-mixed up town, full of surprises.

The "No Right Turn" signs point to the right with a large arrow, and says "No."

You don't dare ask a "yes or no" question, because your answer might be "Yes, you are wrong" or "No, that is right."

There are practically no stop signs, and no policeman would risk his life in an intersection.

The only way to cross the street in the croswalk is to wait for a native Japanese and then walk briskly beside him when he takes the fatal plunge.

'Driver's Choice'

On the wild ride up the winding road to Lake Chuzenji and Kegon Waterfall (which incidentally was "real gone" and not waterfalling this time of the year), Mrs. Rudy Sehring of Walnut Creek named the system, "Driver's Choice."

The buses are too long for the road curves, and the bus driver is entitled to decide whether to pass to the right or to the left of the oncoming vehicle. It's a last moment decision and a thrill that certainly should be incorporated in the next Cinerama.

You enter the Nichigeki Music Hall to see an all "girlie" extravaganza, expecting a giant theatre with several balconies, and find an intimate theatre.

You go to the Mimatsu Coffee House to hear jazz, expecting a few tables and find your giant music hall, 20 piece orchestra and 10 singers.

They say that Tokyo was named after the city of Kyoto, by simply mixing up the sounds and letters.

With a mixed up start like that—well, what do you expect?

WHO'S AFRAID?
Editor:

With interest and mounting surprise I read your editorial "Who's on First?" in The Sun May 3.

Now, how is it possible, that a sensible and intelligent newspaper can get so steamed up about something, which by your own admission is nothing but a folly?

Certainly, you will agree, that there are too many important things in this world to waste your time and newspaper space on follies. It really puzzles me.

Are you sure that you are not fooling yourself? Isn't it just possible that deep down you fear that conservatism is not the folly you would like us to believe it is?

It is difficult to face opinions different from yours, isn't it?

But don't worry, this will become easier the more you mature.

HEART THANKS
Editor:

Now that the 1963 Heart Fund drive has been concluded, we wish to express to you and your staff our appreciation for your continued support of the Contra Costa County Heart Association program, both during the campaign and throughout the year.

It gives me a great deal of pleasure to forward to you a certificate expressing in a small measure our thanks for your outstanding contribution to the work of our organization both during 1963 and in previous years.

KUCHEL CHEER
Editor:

Senator Thomas Kuchel is to be congratulated on his speech pointing out the slime put out by the extreme right-wingers, Birchers, etc.

It is disgusting and dangerous for these leaders and followers who believe this slime to continue with lies about our leaders and institutions.

They prey on the fears of people about communism and do a real disservice to our country.

Slander and suspicion must stop if we are to survive as a free people. The Birchers do the enemy's work well by their false doctrines.

It is to be hoped that other U. S. Senators will endorse Senator Kuchel's excellent remarks on the dangers of the Birch Society.

Trout, Dams Will Be Discussed at Tuesday Meeting

"Trout Versus Power on the Pit River" will be the subject of open discussion at the clubhouse of the Walnut Creek Sportsmen, 2800 North Main Street, Walnut Creek.

The meeting is a joint one between this organization, the Diablo Chapter of the Izaak Walton League of America, and the Associated Sportsmen of California.

Jim Buck of the Walnut Creek Sportsmen announced that the speakers will be J. D. Worthington, chief civil engineer for P.G.&E.; Daniel Slater of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and John Skinner of the Water Projects Branch of the California Department of Fish and Game.

The new power dams under construction on the Pit River and diversion of water from the McCloud River into the Pit River for development of firm power, poses many critical problems for the maintenance of trout fishing in these world-famous waters.

It is expected that both sides of the question will be fully discussed before the interested groups of sportsmen present.

NorCoast Swim Tomorrow

Hosting Las Lomas hopes to play a dominant role in the North Coast Division I Swim championships to be conducted at the Las Lomas pool tomorrow.

Winners in the meet tomorrow will then participate in the North Coast championships at Santa Rosa next week.

Acalanes will lead local entrants in tomorrow's meet with 16 qualifiers. Close behind is Las Lomas with 15 entrants in tomorrow's meet.

MIRAMONTE will have six entered, but is hoping for a high finish on the basis of outstanding personal performances.

In last week's Foothill Athletic Meet, the Knights led in the unofficial team scoring for both the varsity and B teams.

In the varsity scoring, Las Lomas led with 88, Acalanes had 67, Miramonte 56, San Ramon 36, Del Valle 20, Piedmont 6, Alhambra 2, and Campolindo 2.

The Knights were paced by Bob Strand, who set a new record in the 200-yd. individual medley, while registering twin victories.

STRAND WON the 200-yd. individual medley in 2:09, erasing the former mark he had set previously. He also won the 100-yd. backstroke.

The Las Lomas 200-yd. freestyle relay team posted a new record in that event of 1:37.1.

Miramonte won the 200-yd. medley relay event in the record time of 1:49.

In the B's Rick Leach won both the 50 and 100-yd. freestyles in record time. He was clocked in 24.7 in the 50 and 56.0 in the 100.

Bill Allen of the Knights covered the 100-yd. backstroke in the record time of 1:07.8.

BOB MOORE of Miramonte tied his own record of 26.9 in the 50-yd. butterfly.

Las Lomas led B team scoring with 64 points. Trailing the Knights Acalanes had 57, Miramonte 49, San Ramon 44, Alhambra 36, and Del Valle 14.

Mat Netters Undefeated As Dons Are Downed, 5-2

Last Tuesday, Corky Meinhart, Acalanes, met unbeaten Gary Rose from Miramonte.

On paper things looked bleak for Meinhart.

Rose is the best tennis player to come from this area in 10 years, says coach Roger Smith of Acalanes.

A win by Meinhart could help wrest the league title from the Mats.

However, Rose regained his composure and shut out Meinhart, 6-0.

Rose then took the next set 6-1 and removed the unbeaten label from Meinhart and Acalanes.

The final score was 5-2.

In other FAL matches, Piedmont, now 2-2 for the season downed Las Lomas (2-2) in Walnut Creek, 6-1, and San Ramon overpowered Del Valle, also 6-1, at San Ramon.

Except for yesterday's matches the Foothill Athletic League season is over and Miramonte is certain to repeat as champions.

Viks Fall to SFCC Rams

Diablo Valley suffered its eighth loss of the Golden Gate Conference campaign last Friday, bowing to San Francisco City College, 6-2.

The Rams jumped into a quick lead when Walt Williams, SFCC, banged the first pitch of the game out of the park.

FAL-CCD Meet on Dons Track Today

Today the Foothill Athletic League's finest trackmen will clash with their Diablo Valley Athletic League counterparts in an inter-league showdown at Acalanes this afternoon.

Last Friday's FAL and DVAL finals lined up entries for today's meet in which few of the athletes will win easily.

In the sprints, Del Valle's Bill O'Toole will match strides with Livermore's Ray Armstrong. So far it looks like O'Toole should prevail. Armstrong turned in a 10.5 in winning for his school but O'Toole has a best of 9.9.

Las Lomas's Bill Staley should capture the discus and the shot put for the FAL contingent.

Piedmont won the 880 relay last Friday at record producing time of 1:30.7 and is the choice in that event today.

Gregg Ford of Clayton Valley will most likely double in the hurdles.

In the mile, Dean Munroe of Miramonte will get a chance to regain his honor when he faces Art Burkhart of Clayton Valley. Although Monroe had a better time last Friday of the two runners, Burkhart has beaten Monroe previously. Burkhart has clocked a better time this season but Munroe will be out to even things up.

Miramonte's Rich Kay is a favorite in the 880 although he was defeated by San Ramon's Dave Anderson in the Foothill finals. Kay has the fastest time of today's runners.

The team title could go to either Pittsburg or Piedmont, with an outside chance for Miramonte or Livermore.

If O'Toole and Staley both win two events apiece, the DVAL could be defeated in a meet which they usually dominate.

The FAL sends four men in each event to the inter-league meet and five of the winners in each event at today's meet will journey to North Coast, Division I in Hayward next Friday. Piedmont took the FAL Finals easily, beating second place Miramonte 60-45.

In the DVAL finals, Pittsburg dominated the show with 64½ points to second place Livermore's 44½ points.

Last week's competition produced a flock of outstanding performances.

Bill Staley, Las Lomas, won both the shotput and the discus.

Piedmont's Bill Wells doubled up in the hurdles, for the other FAL double winner.

In the DVAL, Greg Ford of Clayton Valley copped both high and low hurdles.

Ray Armstrong, Livermore, turned in twin killings in the sprints to become the other twin victor.

Brian Hunt of Clayton Valley soared to 13-9½ in the pole vault to add nine inches to the previous mark.

Staley's 59-7½ in the shotput, and 172-8 in the discus set new records in those events.

Dave Anderson's blazing 1:55.9 in the 880 was a new FAL standard.

The Mats' Dean Munroe was clocked in 4:29.2 for a new record in the mile.

DONS MISS ON SQUEEZE—Acalanes' Bob Seifker is tagged out at home by Darryl Razzano of Las Lomas when Jeff Hearn missed on a squeeze bunt attempt. Knights won, 3-0.

Falcons Gain in CCD

Unless College Park can get help from its DVAL-CCD neighbors, its late-season drive appears destined to fall short of the top spot.

Mt. Diablo will close out its season with games against Clayton Valley and Pleasant Hill.

Both contests are with representative foes, but unless the Red Devils were bested yesterday by Antioch, they must lose both games for the Falcons to ease into the title.

COLLEGE PARK in the interim will host the slugging Antioch club, the winner to be at least runner-up in the CCD chase. The Falcons close out their season with Ygnacio Valley on Thursday.

Pleasant Hill will host interleague rival Las Lomas in a make-up of a game rained out earlier this season.

Ygnacio Valley tangles with Pacifica to round out the CCD slate.

COLLEGE PARK ran its victory string to five straight games with wins over Clayton Valley and league-leading Mt. Diablo.

Terry Henson fashioned a three-hitter over a span of 13 innings as the Falcons edged Clayton Valley 1-0.

The winning run came in the 13th, when Al Oldfather scored after singling and being moved along by three consecutive walks.

(Doesn't include games played yesterday)

Henson struck out 16 Eagles, running his count in this department to 32 strike-outs in his last 20 innings of action on the mound.

TUESDAY, the Falcons closed the race up, as they got by Mt. Diablo, 4-2.

The Falcons scored on a solo by Dick Larsheid in the third frame.

In the sixth, Jerry Pollard doubled Bill Baker across the plate for the first marker of the inning. Mickey Thomas then unloaded a homer with Pollard on base to close out the College Park scoring.

ERIC Schomaker homered for Mt. Diablo.

Antioch had a big four-run fifth inning, as they defeated Pleasant Hill 7-1. Elray Laughlin was on the mound for the winners.

Steve Dawkins, who was relieved by Bill Robb in the sixth inning was charged with the Earlier, the Rams had downed Clayton Valley, 5-1, behind the one-hit pitching effort of Mark Perrin.

Gene Grant collected the only hit Clayton Valley registered in the second inning, driving in the sole Eagle run.

Pittsburg finally subdued a late inning rally by Ygnacio Valley to win 6-3.

The young Warriors were again betrayed by erratic defensive play as they made another bid to break into the win side of the ledger. Three miscues contributed to the Warriors' downfall.

At the plate, Ygnacio collected six hits to the Pirates' seven.

Mats-SR Swingers Face Showdown in FAL Golf

With less than 10 days until the clash in the final round of the Foothill Athletic League golfers, it is still a two-team show.

San Ramon and Miramonte each have one loss apiece and are leading the league with 6-1 and 5-1 records respectively.

Last Monday San Ramon had a close call at Diablo Country Club with Las Lomas. A loss at this stage of the season would have put the Wolfpack out of the running.

Mike Williamson of Las Lomas downed San Ramon's Pete Dozier in the No. 1 match and took medalist honors with a 34 for the nine holes.

Las Lomas had a 2-1 margin after the first flight.

San Ramon took the next two matches and the best ball point.

No. 6 man from Las Lomas, Richard Jones, was tied with San Ramon's Sandy Friden at the end of eight holes.

Friden came through on the last hole to card a best ball score of 40. His points clinched the match for San Ramon.

The showdown clash between San Ramon and Miramonte is set for Monday, May 30, at Roundhill.

Coach John Guzzo has indicated several times he would prefer playing such a crucial match on the Orinda course. While the Mats defeated the Wolfpack in a convincing manner on their home links, the picture could easily be reversed on the Alamo layout.

With Larry Wolfe capturing low man honors for the day with a 37, Acalanes easily got by Piedmont in another FAL match this week.

FAL action next week finds Las Lomas traveling in to Piedmont and San Ramon meeting Del Valle on Monday.

On Tuesday, Miramonte plays host to Acalanes.

Knights Closing in on Title

Las Lomas, having moved into a commanding two-game lead in the Foothill Athletic League, can assure itself of a tie for the championship by sweeping both of next week's upcoming games.

Should Acalanes, the Knights' closest pursuer, falter and lose a game, Las Lomas will then need only a split of next weeks' games to gain a tie.

A combination of two Las Lomas victories coupled with a loss by the Dons will wrap up the bunting for the Walnut Creek club.

In short, to keep the race alive, the Dons, defending champs, must win all of their remaining games. At the same time, Las Lomas will have to drop two of the four games left to play.

As the Knights begin to get pennant fever, they will journey to Orinda to meet Miramonte on Tuesday for the first time this year. On Thursday, they will play host to San Ramon.

Acalanes will meet two toughies in its bid to keep the race going. On Tuesday the Dons invade Martinez for a contest with the improving Alhambra Bulldogs. Del Valle is then on tap for a home game on Thursday.

The Piedmont Scots, looking for their first win of the year take on San Ramon at Danville Tuesday. They will then play host to Alhambra on Thursday.

BOB KREIDER was on the mound all the way last Thursday, scattering but four hits, as Las Lomas won a crucial 3-0 contest from Acalanes.

The Knights tallied three times in the fifth inning to provide the margin of victory.

The Knights broke the scoring ice when Gary Ford squeeze bunted Rich Bovo home. Darryl Razzano raced home on a wild pitch. Pete Breuleux, who was three for three at the plate for the day, unloaded a long triple that scored Ford to conclude the scoring.

Las Lomas, making liberal use of the bench, then posted a 5-1 win over Piedmont.

Roy Ward started for the Knights, and toiled for five innings before giving way to Gary Ford. Ward gave up only two hits, struck out nine, and walked two during his tour of duty.

FORD nailed down the win, holding the Highlanders hitless for the two innings he worked.

Trailing by a run going into the third inning, Las Lomas put together a four-run rally to sew up the game. Ford singled with the bases full to drive in two of the runs.

Pete Boyle of Miramonte limited the Del Valle Trojans to four hits, as the Mats came off victors, 4-1.

Bruce Nickerson had two RBI's with two singles and Steve Thaman banged a triple to pace the Mat offensive efforts.

SAN RAMON got off the goose egg with a 9-0 bombardment of Piedmont on Wednesday.

They then split a pair with Alhambra to round out the week.

The Wolves got off to a good start in the initial contest when Fred Adams connected with a home run blast with two mates on the base paths to gain a three-run lead.

In the fifth frame Bob Ball and Ed Bailey with timely hits led the way for a four-run frame for the Bulldogs to eke out a 5-4 victory.

IN A MAKEUP of a game rained out earlier, the Wolves got revenge for the earlier loss to the Bulldogs, winning 3-2.

A three-run fourth inning by San Ramon provided the margin of difference.

Greg Pereira was the winning hurler.

Del Valle on Tuesday cut the San Ramon win streak off at one straight, as they came off on the long end of a 3-1 score.

With the game tied at 1-1, Vic Shellenberg led off with a double for the Trojans. Dan Ready then singled to score an insurance run.

SAN RAMON'S lone score came in the fourth stanza when Tim Steward singled to chase Phil Kribel across the plate.

Acalanes was successful in its bid to stay alive, but it took eight inings to subdue Miramonte 5-3.

The Dons had a 3-2 lead going into the seventh inning. At this point, Bob Strain's control faltered momentarily, and walks were issued to Pete Boyle and Doug Marsh. Bob Williams then slapped a single to score Boyle with the tying run.

HOWEVER, a perfect strike by Steve Kosach from left field was in time to put Doug Marsh out and force the game into extra innings.

In the top of the eighth, Boyle threw but two pitches before the roof fell in.

Kosach hit the first pitch for a single. Then Rick Underwood hammered the first ball thrown him for a tremendous homer and the margin of victory.

Weill, Ex-LL Star, Sets New NCAA Discus Record

Dave Weill, the 6-7, 270-pound Stanford senior from Walnut Creek, sailed the discus out 193-2 for a new NCAA record last Saturday as a highlight of the annual Big Meet.

The new mark erases the former record, also held by Weill, of 191-7½ set late last spring.

Weill had a throw of 194-6 earlier this season against UCLA, but the record wasn't allowed due to a slight slope in the field.

WEILL, the current NCAA discus champion, having won the event last year with an effort of 188-1.

He was also named to the 1962 All-American team, and selected as an alternate on the United States team that met the Soviet Union last July at Palo Alto.

Weill, while atending Las Lomas, was better known for his play on the football field.

However, he suffered a knee injury during his freshman year on the Farm, and turned his full attention to track.

DAVE WEILL
Another Record

He was captain of the 1962 Indian track team, and has served this year as one of the tri-captains of the cinder squad.

One of the most respected athletes at Stanford today, Weill is also an otustanding student, majoring in electrical engineering.

FLASH!!! Here's a hot fishing report that was phoned into me: Claude Davis, the bass and crappie king of Clear Lake, was fishing over the past weekend with some friends. Here is what they caught and what they used — the lure was Weber's Li'l Swedee. That's the one that won't twist your line. This report is from Lake County, by the way.

Joe Martini, Harry Lovosini and Claude went from Putah Creek bridge to the head, and Joe got one trout and a smallmouth. Claude lost several, but got two trout and a two-pound bass. Harry collected three trout. The water was clear but high. Kelsey Creek gave up limits before noon. One hot creek was Seigler Creek, the trout were pink-fleshed and heavy bellied. But Skelley caught his limit of bass in Clear Lake on the Li'l Swedee, then went back and asked for five more of the same lure.

Word has come to me that the United Sportsmen's range on Arnold Indus. Hiway is in good shape now. And it seems that the rains will stay away now, we all hope.

While I think of it, you can contact the same men and clubs mentioned earlier in this column for information on Jr. Hunter Safety courses. So get busy. In case you don't know it, coastal deer season opens up in about two months!!

While camping this year, or just out for a day of fun and sport, don't throw your litter around. If you don't believe me, look around before you do. It looks nicer without litter, now, doesn't it?

McDowell and Hammond Win

A 90-horsepower engine gives the Lark a speed up to 145 miles an hour and a range of 510 miles.

Meningitis Strikes Fourth County Child

Infectious spinal meningitis has struck in Contra Costa for the fourth time this year, County Health Officer Dr. Henrik L. Blum announced last week.

The victim, a two-year-old Concord girl, is in good condition in county hospital, Martinez, he said.

The health officer said there was no cause for alarm because all members of the child's family have been given sulfa drugs.

One of the three other victims —all children—died of the infectious disease earlier this year.

Pappas, Humm Welcomed by Toastmasters

Dean Pappas of Walnut Creek and David Humm of Lafayette have been elected members of the Larinda Toastmasters Club.

Pappas, a civil engineer with the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers in San Francisco, moved to this country from Athens, Greece, in 1946. He was graduated from Cleveland's Case Institute of Technology and later served as a pilot with the Navy. He was recalled to active duty in October 1961 to serve for a year during the Berlin and Cuban crises.

Pappas and his wife, Joyce, live at 47 Brasero Lane in Walnut Creek. They have two daughters: Melissa, 4, and Daphne, 2.

Humm is employed as a chemical engineer at California Research Corporation in Richmond. He has a master's degree in engineering from the University of Notre Dame.

A native of Westfield, N. J., he and his wife Dolores have lived at 3375 Sweet Drive in Lafayette since 1957.

They have five children: Laura, 7, Gregg, 6, Steve, 4, Chris 3 and Susan 1.

The Larinda Toastmasters, drawing membership from the central Contra Costa area, meets at 7 p.m. on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month at Gimbo's in Rheem. The club provides each member with an opportunity to develop public speaking techniques.

Club president Andy Young of 3338 Moraga Boulevard, said that the group is actively seeking new members.

"Men over 21 are invited to attend any of the meetings as guests," he points out, "to see first-hand how pleasant and helpful this kind of training can be."

Young welcomes phone calls at his home from people who would like to learn more about the club.

Adopting a Child

"Popular public information about adoption agency procedure is no longer true," Jean McClintic advised this week.

Mrs. McClintic, spokesman for the Contra Costa County Citizens Advisory Committee on Adoptions, made the statement while announcing the group's plans to hear a "follow-up report" from Dr. Yoshiye Togasaki, assistant county health officer, whose "pregnancy report" made headlines recently.

"The committee is interested in clarifying public understanding of adoption," Mrs. McClintic said.

"Couples applying to the County Adoption Unit need not have a large bank account or own their own home," she said.

THERE IS no rule about a family's length of residence in the county or about the number of children already in the family, the spokesman pointed out.

"And," she said, "adoption workers in this county make visits only by appointment, never by just dropping in unannounced."

Dr. Togasaki will report to the group on Thursday in Pleasant Hill. Also on the agenda will be reports of the current activities of the County Adoption Unit and the Diablo Adoption Auxiliary.

How does a couple go about adopting a child?

"WHEN A COUPLE is considering applying to adopt a child," Mrs. McClintic explained, "they should call the Adoption Unit, ACademy 8-3000, extenstion 314, and ask to attend a group meeting or talk to a caseworker."

The meeting, she said, is a discussion of precisely what is involved in adopting a child through this agency.

Names of six or eight couples attending are not exchanged, she said.

An agency caseworker answers questions, tells about application procedure, and of the agency's rules.

The County Adoption Unit, she pointed out, welcomes inquiries and applications, and has a number of children in need of homes and ready for placement.

The Easter Seal Society's $19½ million treatment program is given through a nation-wide network of rehabilitation and treatment centers, clinics, camps, and traveling therapy units that provide professional care and treatment for crippled children and adults in every community.

'The Community Cares'

A small group does a lot of good for the unfortunate youngsters, both neglected and delinquent, who are confined to the county juvenile hall. The group held its eighth annual meeting and installation of officers recently at Mike Lynn's restaurant, Orinda.

The organization, one of only two of its kind in the state (the other is in San Francisco), is the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary of Contra Costa County, which has as its motto "The Community Cares."

The services given during this past year to help the youngsters at Juvenile Hall are merely a continuation of similar services freely given since the auxiliary was first organized.

Volunteers have taught grooming, sewing and crafts, provided funds for summer camp for several underprivileged court wards, helped with tuition for beauty and IBM schools.

They planned and promoted programs and gifts for holidays, helped provide medical and dental care.

They established a Zenk Memorial Scholarship Fund, honoring Helen Glenn Zenk, who, with her husband Norman, cared for 118 children in 33 years in addition to rearing five of her own.

Several retired kindergarten teachers have given time and attention to pre-schoolers in Edgar Cottage, the shelter section of the hall.

Restoration of the library program is now getting under way, with an enthusiastic group of volunteers helping to sort and screen the donated books.

And finally, the most important continuing donation of "heart and help" is the work of the Lollipop Unit, a small group of women who organized March 15, 1960.

They established a thrift shop known as the Hall Closet in Concord.

Since then, "Lollipoppers" have spent countless hours sorting, washing, ironing, mending, repairing and otherwise making serviceable donations of clothing and household articles.

In addition to staffing the shop, they have contributed more than $10,000 to assist children at the hall.

Mrs. Sam Johnston of Concord has been the continuing director of the project. For the past two years, Mrs. Otto C. Friedrich has served as Lollipop Unit president.

At Tuesday evening's dinner meeting, Mrs. Russell Harmon of Pinole accepted the office of auxiliary president for the second consecutive year.

Others who were installed in a ceremony conducted by the Honorable Wakefield Taylor, judge of the Superior Court, were George Gillespie, vice-president; Mrs. D. D. Tuggle, secretary; Paul Bayard, treasurer, all of Lafayette.

Mrs. Raymond Levy, Walnut Creek, historian and parliamentarian; Mrs. Elliott Mauzy, Walnut Creek, public relations chairman; Mrs. Reuben Friedrich, Pleasant Hill, publicity chairman, and Mrs. S. V. Daddino, Concord, membership chairman.

Mrs. Robert Adams of Walnut Creek will serve as juvenile justice commission representative to the board. John A. Davis will be probation department representative. Robert Hamlin will be Juvenile Hall representative.

Area vice-presidents installed were Mmes. Arthur T. Webb, Antioch; Everett Hinkle, Concord; Stuart Henderson, Orinda, and Doris Tuck, Richmond.

Mrs. Tuck and Mrs. Hinkle assisted Mrs. Harmon with installation dinner arrangements. Invocation was by the Rev. C. Corwin Callavan, Orinda's St. Stephen's Episcopal.

Probation Officer John Davis made some remarks.

Installation and address was by Judge Taylor.

Mrs. Tuck was also mistress of ceremonies.

A Rough Spot

Don't try to tell "Rough," a six-year-old female boxer, that lightning doesn't strike twice in the same spot.

All you'll get is a growl from this otherwise friendly mascot of General Air Services at Buchanan Field.

The faint dark X on Rough's skull marks the spot where lightning, in the form of two different airplane propellers, struck this pooch twice.

RUNNING across the field a few years ago, Rough came into violent contact with the whirling prop of a taxiing airplane. The blow fractured her skull. Seven stitches were needed to patch up Rough.

No sooner had the scar healed when Rough, chasing a rabbit across Buchanan's wide expanse, ran full tilt into the stationary propeller of a parked plane.

Another skull fracture, more stitches—and an X-mark to disprove the old adage.

ROUGH, treated on both occasions by flying veterinarian Dr. Joseph Lorber of Lafayette, has come through both of her remarkable accidents in good shape.

"She's had several litters since her last propeller," General Air Manager Andy Traverso reports. As well as mascot, Rough is the personal pet of the flight school's owner, Jim Graham.

Neither accident seems to have hurt Rough's sunny disposition. Much too friendly for a watch-dog, Rough would "open the door for him if a burglar was trying to break in," Traverso said.

Rough hasn't changed. But she does steer clear of propellers these days.

Workers Set to Strike; Mosquitoes All Set, Too

Bring out those mosquito nets. You may need them.

Twelve employes of the Contra Costa Mosquito Abatement District have voted to take strike action against the district because of negotiating differences over a new contract.

Henry L. Clarke, business manager of the Contra Costa County Employes Association in Martinez, listed several grievances which he said employes had against the district and its manager, Ernest Campbell.

SOME OF THESE include:

1. Campbell is "anti-union."

2. He has complete arbitrary power to demote, transfer, take away or give favors, harrass and "demean" employes.

3. The demotion of one employe.

4. Campbell had failed to deduct employer and employe contributions for Social Security Payments in behalf of four of the district's employes.

ALL 12 workers threatening strike action against the district are involved in spraying operations to curtail or eradicate mosquitos and various insects.

"It's getting to be the bad time of the year, too, for moquitos to swing into action," one worker commented.

Representatives of the employes' association and the board of trustees of the district began a hearing session last night to try and eradicate the strife.

Rabbit 'Harvey' Is at St. Mary's

The rather oversized rabbit named Harvey who may or may not be there will definitely be on the Saint Mary's campus today, tomorrow and Sunday when the Saint Mary's Players produce the ever popular comedy by Mary Chase.

Playing Elwood P. Dowd, the only man certain of Harvey's existence, will be sophomore Bill Hamlin of Oakland. Other members of the cast are juniors Jim McDonough and Steve Pruitt of Oakland, junior Tom Hersant of Medford, Oregon, and senior Jim McNalis of Temple City.

The distaff members of the cast will be played by Holy Names College co-eds. Playing the female lead will be Mars Schoenbachler. Other female cast members are Sylvia Martin, Fran Mason, Judy Craig and Pat Allegree.

The curtain at LeFevre Theatre on the campus will go up at 8:30 p.m. for all performances. Prices are $1.00 adults and $.50 students.

The game has been declared a sellout to the general public.

Tickets are $12 per couple, which includes chartered bus transportation, reserved seat at Candlestick ball park, and a chance to win a "Garnet Good Guy Survival Kit" for adults, and a pair of Giant baseball tickets for the teenage set.

Tickets are available and reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Royal Doty, or Mrs. G. Weiland, before May 20.

Strawberries Abloom at Homes

Arboreous lawns and gardens at the trio of Howard homes in Walnut Creek will receive a bountiful importation of "Strawberries for Spring" for the annual Festival of Flowers and Fashions Tuesday.

This will be the 18th year that Walnut Branch has presented the afternoon garden party and parade of mannequins to benefit Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

Throughout its history, the event has occupied a top spot on the spring scene and this year will attract an estimated 1200 guesst from all parts of the Bay Area.

Tea and dessert will be served, starting at 2 p.m., in the four gardens at 2373 Walnut Boulevard which abound with huge oak trees, spring flowers, sparkling fountains and bird baths.

Branch members are decorating topiary trees with brilliant red strawberries for placement at each table, and clusters of large strawberries studded with pearls will hang from the trees and decorate the models' runways.

To please art lovers, Mrs. Peter Howard again will display her mosaics, and garden enthusiasts will marvel at the rare lilies and blooming flower beds which have been tended by Charles P. Howard Sr.

Summer apparel selected from a score or more of Contra Costa's fine shops will be worn by branch members, associates and friends as well as two male models and a number of children. One commentator will be assigned to each of the four garden areas. At the microphones will be Mmes. Gorrill Butler, Norman Burkhardt, Harmon Howard and Hollis McLaughlin.

Mrs. Lyle T. Wilcox will be chairman of the al fresco benefit, according to Mrs. Lewis E. Walton, branch chairman.

Decorations have been planned by Mrs. Bruce J. Wood of Lafayette, assisted by Mrs. Oreon Martin of Walnut Creek and sustaining members of Walnut headed by Mrs. A. L. Peterson of Orinda.

Other committee chairmen for the festival are Mmes. Harmon Howard, tea hostess; J. Allen Madison and Howard Bell, fashion show; Louis W. Werthman, tickets; J. Herbert Daley, program; Robert Bruen Jr., refreshments; D. Charles Williams, finances; Robert L. Hollis, Richard Ricker, Frank Burkett, Herbert L. Breckheimer and Gerald Stewart, properties; King Crosno and Lewis Walton, awards; John Griffith, reservations, and John R. Sandman, public relations.

On the model roster from Walnut Creek will be Mmes. Melvin Catledge, John Ekstrom, G. R. Hixson Jr., Keith Johnson of Pepper Branch, Donald MacVean, Gilbert Meacham, John Morken of Jasmine Branch, Robert Muenter, John Nejedly, Carroll Russell, R. C. Talbot, Ivy Todd and Frank E. Young and Messrs. Gary Souza and Dennis Barry.

Junior models will be Nora Banwell, Lisa and Julie Cortese, Julie Downs, Donald Hotton, Dale Kalberg, Nancy Oliver, Debbie Southworth, Tamra Tharratt and Thalia Vassiliou.

From Lafayette will be Miss Molly Hunter and Mmes. Ralph Hill of Orinda Branch, Robert Hughey, Lloyd Kindall Jr. of Laurel Jr. Branch, Ralston May of Alder Branch, John Ratza and Linda L. Sellers. Juniors will be Danny Baker and Patty and Claire Kilpatrick.

Mannequins from Danville will include Mmes. Lloyd Bradhoff of Papaya Branch, A. Keyes George, Robert Hussey, Virginia Richard and Ridgway Woodburn.

Mmes. Calvin Hagstrom of Lombardy Branch, Roy Hunter and Philip Muscheid and one junior model, Tookie Mason, are Orindans on the list.

Other Contra Costa communities will be represented by Mmes. G. R. Peterson and Paul Winn of Alamo, James B. Stapler of Diablo, Wadsworth White of San Ramon, William R. Sharkey III of Muir Branch and daughter Jane of Martinez and Jim P. Torvik of Hemlock Branch and El Sobrante and Cathy Hanson, junior model from Concord.

Tickets may be purchased at $2.25 from any member of Walnut Branch or by calling Mrs. Louis W. Werthman at 934-6241.

Capsule Vacation At Carmel

Some reservations remain for the capsule vacation on the Monterey Peninsula.

Contra Costans will board a chartered bus May 21 at Capwell's Walnut Creek for the fifth annual Carmel house tour and champagne lunch sponsored by Fir Branch of Children's Hospital of the East Bay.

The daylong outing will start at 8:45 a.m. and return at 6 p.m.

Three of the most outstanding homes on the peninsula will be included on the tour. They are the Palo Corana Ranch, home of Stuyvesant Fish; Virginia and Robert Stanton's Carmel Valley show place; and the R. E. McDonald estate of Carmel Valley which was once Muriel Vanderbilt's.

Champagne lunch will be served around the pool at the latter home.

Tickets for $13.50 include everything. They may be secured by writing or calling Mrs. W. D. Gieseke, 3279 Knowland Avenue, Oakland 19, KE 2-4990.

KQED Auction Enlists Aid of Local Women

Serving as East Bay area chairmen for KQED's June 4-8 auction are Mrs. Manford Funsten and Mrs. Sydney Kinnear Smith, Jr., both of Orinda.

Mrs. Robert Moseby Wade of Orinda is East Bay publicity chairmen for the auction.

Among the items to go on the block will be an original cartoon from The New Yorker, a live calf, a Ford camper, a trip to Tahiti, and the last post card mailed from Alcatraz.

Almaden Vineyards, contributors of champagne for the luncheon, will donate its three billionth case of champagne.

Retired Officers Wives Club Meets

The Retired Officers Wives Club met at Kellogg's Steak House, Walnut Creek, recently.

Mrs. Robert Eisenberger and Mrs. Millard R. France, were chairmen.

Among those attending were Mmes. Clarence W. Parham, Charles E. Mowry, Harmon S. Kelsey, Chester H. Ennis, Melvin W. Wolter, William H. Harlow and George M. Chapman.

"PERFECT SECRETARY" IS INTERVIEWED BY OWEN SPANN

'Perfect Secretary' Wins

She's efficient. She's blonde. She's employed. And her boss thinks that Ellen Neville is "The Perfect Secretary."

He is Clyde B. Kirlin, marine electronics engineer with offices at 1529 Cypress Avenue, Walnut Creek. A man of action, Kirlin heard over his car radio that commentator Owen Spann of KNBR was searching for "The Perfect Secretary" in the Bay Area.

When he told Miss Neville that he had sent in her name, she laughed: "Oh, I never win anything." But her name was picked out of the fish bowl as one of the six winners in the Bay Area. She was interviewed by Spann on the show and presented with two tickets for two for dinner. One set is for the Blue Fox and the other for the Venetian Room at the Fairmont Hotel.

Miss Neville came to America from Germany in 1948. She has been with Kirlin for 2½ years.

Who is she taking to dinner? Like the perfect secretary she is, she offered the tickets to Kirlin and his missus.

However, Kirlin, sounding much like the perfect boss, insists that the tickets are for the perfect secretary. And, to add a final touch, KNBR offers a secretarial service the morning after Miss Neville goes to dinner—so that she may sleep in.

Vicki Is Bride

Vicki Bottari became the bride of William Cameron McDill, Jr., in Orinda's Santa Maria Church, recently.

Vicki is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bottari, Jr., 52 Estabueno, Orinda. Her father, who gave her in marriage, was a gridiron star at the University of California, Berkeley, a few decades ago.

Vicki graduated from Berkeley High School and attended U.C. at Davis. She has one brother, Tod.

The benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McDill, Sr. of San Francisco. Bill, as he is known, is a recent graduate of U.C. at Davis, where he was a Kappa Sig.

Vicki's gown was of silk organza with a sabrina neckline. The bodice was appliqued with imported French lace. The bouffant skirt ended with a chapel-length train.

Her illusion veil was held by a crown of pearls. The bridal bouquet was a shower of stephanotis and lily of the valley.

Patricia Canham of Lafayette was maid of honor. She wore a copen blue organza sheath with overskirt, matching veil and bow.

Robert McDill of San Francisco was best man for his brother. Ushers were James Collopy and John Ramage.

The Rev. Father Michael McGinty of San Leandro performed the service.

A reception followed at the Orinda Country Club. The wedding party received before a mantle decorated with tree magnolia and pink camellia.

The honeymoon trip included a tour of several states as the newlyweds traveled to their new home. It will be San Antonio, Texas, where the bridegroom, a lieutenant in the U.S. Army Reserve, will be stationed.

Pregnancy Report Is Evaluated

By LEE COMBS

The report concerning pregnancies among Contra Costa junior and senior high school students was evaluated recently by Dr. Yoshiyi Togasaki, assistant county health officer. She spoke to the Diablo Adoption Auxiliary at the Concord home of Mrs. David McClintic.

Dr. Togasaki explained that the research was prompted by interest in a program of maternal and child health in the nation—not to single out Contra Costa.

"Health and medical care for pregnant high school girls is sometimes neglected due to reticence on the part of the girl to seek medical help," she said.

The survey was arranged through the county schools department. The random sampling method was used; and 21 out of 29 schools were surveyed.

The number included in the report represented only those cases of which the school officials had knowledge. It is possible that there were many more that were not reported, according to Dr. Togasaki.

There is, at present, no accurate way of determining how many unwed mothers there are in the state, she added.

The most startling information, shown by public reaction, was that the highest rate of pregnancies was in an all-white high school, the problem is not one of low economic lever or underprivileged groups. It is a generalized, wide spread problem.

Though it was not the purpose of this survey to evaluate sociological factors, Dr. Togasaki had some recommendations to make regarding the importance of continuing the education of these girls.

She feels that graduating from high school is of extreme importance. At present there is no clear cut policy for continuing education for pregnant girls. The principal of the school is autonomous in this respect.

Treatment varies from school to school.

Thirteen schools have a policy that unmarried, pregnant girls must leave school. Four schools bar all pregnant girls married or not. Much depends on the administrative personnel which is influenced by community opinion.

Parts of the administrative education code do provide for education for pregnant girls. Dr. Togasaki cited as examples: Education code number 8903 provides for education of the "handicapped."

Code number 6803 provides for special instruction in public schools.

The attorney general's opinion is that "students can not be excluded solely because of marital status."

Of the schools surveyed, two had a written policy, two were getting ready to establish a policy and 12 were treating it on "a case to case basis."

No official records were kept in the schools as to the number of pregnant girls. The dean of women kept informal records and confidentiality was kept.

Twenty of the schools had some form of counseling. The dean of girls and the school nurse both talked with the girl. But, in most cases, once the student drops school, there is no follow-up.

The schools tend to withdraw from the situation. The continued use of educational facilities depends to a large extent on the academic ability of the girl, her motivation and the parents' attitude.

Six schools have no program whatever for home teaching for pregnant girls. The only community having a continuation school is Richmond.

There is no organized plan of Family Life Education in the schools. Few are planned as such. The student may get "a little in P.E., a little in Home Ec., etc." The school administrators are concerned about this and are working toward such a program.

Some school officials feel that the problem is mainly due to a lack of parental authority and application. A lack of recreational facilities seems to have little bearing on it. The cultural pattern of making sex extremely attractive, early dating, drinking, going steady, etc., all contribute.

The administrative officials offered some specific suggestions. Some were: 1. Discussion groups of students. 2. Counseling where intake would be easy and immediate. 3. Parents discussion groups to meet with church and civic leaders. 4. Coordination of efforts of all county agencies.

Since the population of the county goes from one extreme to the other in the areas of education and sophistication, Dr. Togasaki feels it is impossible to determine a universal public attitude. However, she said that the county has extremely limited resources for the care of unwed mothers.

Most girls needing help are forced to go to other counties. In the area of counseling and welfare services, however, there are many agencies willing and able to help.

A member of the audience asked: Should a girl be accepted and urged to continue school (either during or after pregnancy) or does this constitute "a pat on the head"?

Dr. Togasaki said that in her opinion "segregation is always a little vicious. Isolating the girl is punishment. A moral judgment is passed on the girl but the boy father is allowed to continue."

As to preventive measures Dr. Togasaki believes that children tend to accept the family pattern. If this is good it helps support the child.

The best preventive measure is for the child to be aware of who and what he is as a person. Having goals is very important.

A boy or girl with definite goals is not likely to clutter up his life by putting himself into a position which would obviate them. For example: a forced, early marriage with its attendant responsibilities and obligations.

She concluded that "it is a matter of mental health essentially."

A city reporter present at the meeting suggested that Dr. Togasaki had been the "victim of a sensational press."

She replied that she did not feel that this was so. On the contrary, she said, she welcomed the help of the press in informing the public of the situation.

The response from the public has been supportive. Only commendations regarding the report have been received in the public health office.

She feels that the report, characterized as preliminary, will help to stimulate other groups to study the problem in depth.

"It has already resulted in some soul searching, combined with practical policy making, in this sensitive area among parents and school officials.

"Bringing a problem into the open instead of sweeping it under the rug usually brings action."

The attention paid to the report by the press has aided the health department in stimulating the community to action, the doctor believes.

Mental health as well as physical hygiene must be considered in both our homes and our schools, Dr. Togasaki emphasized.

PREGNANCY REPORT—An evaluation of the highly publicized report on pregnancies in county high schools is discussed by Dr. Yoshiyi Togasaki (center), county health officer. Members of the Diablo Adoption Auxiliary are Mrs. Jack Guest, vice president (left), and Mrs. John Lundholm.

'Be a Happy Tourist'

With summer travel plans reaching their peak, Philip Wylie, author of the best seller, "Triumph," and a globetrotter himself, explains "How To Be A Happy Tourist" in the May issue of Suburbia Today coming to you with today's edition of The Sun.

You won't feel a stranger for long, he says, if you make up your mind early to like 51 per cent of the people you meet. And remember, it's you who are the foreigner once you leave the old sod, so expect to make mistakes, and if you can laugh at your own blunders, you'll make friends with those who try to help you.

SHAKER HEIGHTS

And then there's the remarkable story of Shaker Heights, Ohio. Today, it's a handsome town valued in the hundreds of millions, but when the Van Sweringen brothers bought it all 50 years ago, it was a gloomy stretch of brush and weeds and empty houses. Eugene Rachlis and John E. Marqusee describe the imagination and sharp business sense that built America's "most spectacular suburb."

HOME FIRES

Why did a family of seven lose their lives when a fire broke out in a modern split-level with every room close to the ground? And why did even the dog escape another time when a rambling old two-story house went up in flames in the dead of night? Fire Chief Lewis Marshall explains the simple measures you can take to protect your family and prevent a fire from breaking out in the first place.

1704 HOME

A hundred acres of land, a stately colonial house built of handmade brick around 1704, Black Angus cattle and race horses—this is "Larkin's Hundred," the unusual suburban house for this month, located an hour from Washington, D.C.

"BEAT CITY HALL"

A man (who admits he is the mousy type) sets out to "beat city hall" and its building code in order to put a back porch on his own house. Read his dramatic first-person story in "Getting a Variance Made a Man of Me."

GARDENS

You can have your garden and eat it, too.

Suburbia Today's garden expert, John Brimer, believes that vegetables should be considered for their beauty as well as their usefulness — especially by gardeners who are pressed for space. Plant them in your flower garden as a pleasing bit of contrast, he advises, with flourishing examples.

WINES

Many potential wine lovers are thwarted by the prospect of having to serve a lengthy apprenticeship before they can find their way around a wine list. A noted connoisseur comes to the rescue with a one-page course that will make the selection of wine a pleasure.

ICE CREAM

A treat for warm spring days —refreshing ice cream recipes like Carnival Snow and Peach Ice Cream Supreme selected by food editor Melanie De Proft. With them, she offers an appetizer that can be kept in the freezer, warmed and served at the last minute, and an easy-to-prepare entree.

KIDS AFTER SCHOOL

"What Do Young People in Your Town Find to Do After School Hours?" Suburbia Today, for a Round Table report, queried local papers, educators, parents, and children throughout the country to find out how their community handled the problem, and their answers will give you a yardstick to measure what is being done—or might be done—for the young ones you know.

BEACH TIME

It's beach time again and time to think about a new swimsuit.

The new color this year is Voodoo brown, a deep, rich shade that makes a dramatic contrast next to sleek tan skins. And there are five new silhouettes to brighten up the beach.

CARTOONS

The cartoon feature, Suburbia —Any Day, deals with wifely blackmail tactics—how the hapless commuter pays for a tiny dab of lipstick on the collar or talking too freely in his sleep.

"GETTING AROUND"

The news department, "Getting Around," reports this month about a birthday card exchanged 53 times in 26 years—a man who, by mistake, takes a dip in meat tenderizer—and a 12x6' mosaic built entirely by the church's own young people.

CO-OP

Ever Get Money Back from a Supermarket?

You've never heard of getting back money from a supermarket? Well, thousands of Bay Area families have heard about it and do get money back from supermarkets which they own and patronize.

Co-op members think of their co-op as providing them with one week's groceries free each year — that is the value of the patronage refund* to them.

This patronage refund though important is only one of many benefits of co-op membership. More information can be obtained at the Education Office in any Center or will be sent on request.

*Patronage refunds have averaged just over 3% over the last five years. This means, for example, that co-op members have had annual refunds of just over $30 for each $1,000 spent in all departments at their Co-op.

Don't Lose Sight of This Beetle

County Agricultural Commissioner Arthur L. Seeley reports that the annual trapping and visual inspection for Japanese beetles began in Contra Costa County today.

The yellow metal traps, containing a non-poisonous chemical beetle attractant, will be placed throughout the county in residential properties, at cemeteries, golf courses, parks and in and around the county airport.

THE JAPANESE beetle is a major pest of both ornamental and food crop plants in the Eastern United States.

In June of 1961 this pest was discovered to be established in the city of Sacramento over about a two square mile area. County, state and federal forces have waged what appears to be a successful campaign to eradicate it from the Sacramento area.

Commissioner Seeley says the beetle spends 10 months of the year in the soil as a grub. In late spring and early summer it comes out as a shiny green beetle about one-third of an inch long and with bronze wing covers.

The beetles are highly attracted to rose blossoms.

CONTRA COSTA County residents are urged to watch for the Japanese beetle and to cooperate with county agricultural inspectors as they place and service the traps for detection of the adult beetles.

The effort is part of the statewide insect detection program designed to discover serious agricultural pests before they become widespread.

CITIZENS WHO discover beetles suspected of being this pest are urged to contact the County Department of Agriculture offices at Buchanan Field, Concord (682-7550), Richmond (233-7080) or Brentwood (634-3954).

Garden Show Sets Record

That the Bay Area possesses one of the finest horticultural attractions in the United States is evidenced by the fact that 113,000 persons paid admission to see the recently concluded 1963 California Spring Garden Show at Oakland's Exposition Building.

An average of more than 12,000 flower and garden lovers streamed daily through the Garden Show gates to gasp at the beauty of the spectacular theme panorama — "Valley of the Giants."

They spent happy hours meandering through the individual displays designed to edify "greenthumbers" from all parts of the United States.

For the last three successive years, The Garden Club of America has awarded the First District Agricultural Association — producers of the California Spring Garden Show—the Bulkley Bronze Medal for overall excellance of design, staging and plant materials.

This is America's top garden award, coveted by horticulturists the country over.

High School Students to Stage Their Own Art Show

Acalanes Union High School District students will hold their first district-wide art show May 13-18.

It will be held at Capwell's in Walnut Creek.

Art work in several dimensions will be featured by students from Acalanes, Campolindo, Del Valle, Las Lomas and Miramonte High Schools.

Student art projects were selected for the first district during Public Schools Week.

MORE THAN 100 student artists will display their work in oils, water color, pencil and ink, engravings, sculpture, crafts and other art forms.

Works of students from the 9th through 12th grades will be exhibited.

Parents and the general public are invited to the showing held in cooperation with the Walnut Creek Capwell store.

Acalanes District art teachers sponsoring the show include Richard Keyes and William O'Neil, Acalanes; Mrs. Karen Becker, Campolindo; Jack Howard and Lawrence Tanner, Del Valle; Miss Carol Montgomery and Mrs. Jane Manske, Las Lomas, and John Mack and Richard Gompf, Miramonte High.

DICK KEYES is faculty chairman of the exhibit. Carol Montgomery is publicity director.

Recent student Kiwanis Art Show winners and award recipients in other art contests in which students from Acalanes District high schools have participated will be included in the showing.

DVC Hires New Teachers To Assume Posts in Sept.

The governing board of the Contra Costa Junior College District has hired 10 new instructors who will report for duty in September.

Two of the instructors, Albert A. Andersen and Thomas C. Crooks, will be assigned to teach chemistry-physics and mathematics, respectively, at Contra Costa College, San Pablo, while the other eight will be assigned to Diablo Valley College, Concord.

THE HIRINGS were occasioned by normal growth and in anticipation of increased enrollments. The growth rate at both colleges has been in excess of 10 per cent a year for many years.

Andersen, with 15 years of teaching experience, comes to the district from Fresno City College, while Crooks, with seven years of experience, has been instructor and director of student activities at the Vallejo Junior College for the past three years.

The new DVC instructors and the subjects they will teach are:

Stephen A. Brooks, physics; Ben B. Bowen, mathematics; Kenneth E. Howard, chemistry; Miss Carol M. Huggins, social science; Donald E. Mahan, English; Clark McKowen, English; Harold I. Smith, physicial science, and Jack L. Smith, physical education.

BROOKS is a teaching assistant in the University of California's intern program at Davis; Bowen is a teacher in the Vallejo Unified School District for 12 years, and Howard, a lecturer for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, has 20 years of teaching experience.

Miss Huggins comes from Orange Coast College at Costa Mesa, Mahan has been teaching English at El Camino High School in South San Francisco, McKowen is an English teacher at the A. A. Stagg High School in Stockton, Harold Smith has been a teacher at the Los Lomas High School in Walnut Creek for the last six years, and Jack Smith has been director of physical education at Pacifica High School in Pittsburg for the last five years.

District Presidents Grant Johnson, Richmond; Mrs. Robert T. Adams, Lafayette; B. J. Callaghan, Brentwood were recognized for their leadership.

Henrik L. Blum, M.D., county health officer, served as general chairman of the noon meeting.

Assisting Dr. Blum with the plans, in addition to the Volunteer Bureau, were Mrs. John G. Kelly, Walnut Creek, program; Mrs. John L. Taylor Pleasant Hill, Mrs. Norman Sundborg, Antioch, Mrs. William Stiles, El Cerrito, Mrs. Charles E. Townsend, Jr., Orinda, reservations; George Deeds, Martinez, arrangements.
